Congress Asked To Okay Double Pay For Overtime

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked Congress to permit the government to require double pay for overtime in selected industries as a weapon to combat unemployment.

His idea is that higher overtime pay might encourage employers to hire more workers rather than assign their present force to work overtime Under the current time - and - a - half floor, employers often find it cheaper to pay overtime than to pay the fringe benefits involved in adding workmen.

A letter to Johnson by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz made public Thursday by the White House said, "Over 15 million people regularly work more than 40 hours a week at the same time four million workers are jobless."

Some 35 million hours of overtime were worked last year in manufacturing industries — the equivalent of 919,000 full-time jobs, it was pointed out.

Partial Union Backing

AFL-CIO President George Meany commented that Johnson "has quite correctly assessed the problem of overtime as a major contributing factor to unemployment." He said it goes a long way toward the AFL-CIO position although it does not meet organized labor's demand that overtime start after 35 hours in any week.

Johnson has opposed the 35-hour week, contending it would "sharply increase costs, invite inflation, impair our ability to compete and merely share instead of creating employment."

Remove Exemptions

The President's message to Congress also called for removing as exemptions to the overtime and to the $1.25-an-hour minimum wage some two million workers. A total of 28 million are now covered.

Mentioned in the long, detailed message were 254,000 restaurant and food service workers, 190,000 hotel employes, 80,000 laundry workers, 87,000 loggers, 1.2 million transportation workers, 54,000 employed in agricultural products processing and seasonal industries and 86,000 gasoline service station employes.

Johnson's proposal calls for double time in industries where this "might be necessary and appropriate to reduce work hours and increase employment —taking into account both the costs and the benefits involved."

The auto industry is one major field in which overtime operations have been prevalent for more than a year. There was no immediate comment from industry spokesmen.

Generals Jailed

Saigon's Strongman Vows Anti-Red Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh has emerged from a bloodless coup as the strong man and virtual dictator of South Viet Nam. He vowed to smash both the Communists and "the traitors who advocate neutralism"

Troops and tanks based in the Saigon area—some diverted from a planned offensive against a Communist guerrilla stronghold — quietly backed Khanh's successful bid for power Thursday.

Junta Falls

Khanh dissolved the 3-month-old regime of Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, jailed several fellow generals as conspiracy suspects and took over governmental reins of this former French colony, which has known little but battle and political intrigue since the end of World War II.

A 37-year-old army corps commander who has a reputation as a cool and skillful planner, Khanh made plain the new Asian policy of French President Charles de Gaulle was among targets of the coup.

A diplomatic break between Saigon and Paris is expected.

De Gaulle, who last Monday extended diplomatic recognition to Red China, has advocated neutralization of both Communist North Viet Nam and the U.S.-backed Republic of South Viet Nam.

Minh Not Arrested

Minh was not arrested There seemed to be a possibility that the former junta chief, popular among both Vietnamese and American military men, would be kept on as technical chief of state.

The premier of the provisional civilian government, Nguyen Ngoc Tho, was turned out of office along with his Cabinet and returned to civilian life.

The United States position here is solidly behind South Viet Nam in opposing neutralization and in condemning France for establishing ties with Peking.

U. S. Assessing Saigon Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington warily eyed the new South Vietnamese leadership Thursday and sought to learn how much damage the latest Saigon upheaval has done to the war effort against Red guerrillas.

President Johnson conferred by telephone with Secretary of State Dean Rusk several times, the White House said, but beyond this offered no comment.

At the State Department, press officer Richard I. Phillips said officials are studying the reports of the coup to ascertain whether the question of recognition of the regime headed by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh will arise. The issue involves legal technicalities as well as policy.

"We have no reports that any Americans were injured in the recent events in Saigon, and the situation there is reported to be quiet," Phillips added. "Until we receive more complete information, and an assessment of the situation in South Viet Nam, I will have no further comment."

Meanwhile, U.S. aid is continuing. The United States, deeply committed in the campaign against the Red Viet Cong guerrillas, is spending some $500 million a year on military and economic aid in the Southeast Asian country.

Reports reaching Washington concerning the overthrow of the Saigon junta were described as still incomplete and reflecting confusion.

Nonetheless, the consensus in U.S. quarters was that the coup will have an impairing effect on the war effort. Just how much remains undetermined.

Senate Debates Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate jumped into debate on the $11.6 - billion tax-cut bill Thursday with vigorous Democratic supporters and foes of various facets of the legislation restating their views.

Thus they squared away for the battles ahead as the administration pushes toward hoped-for passage of the bill by the end of next week.

The debate began with Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee explaining why he believes the measure should be turned down although his committee approved it.

Byrd said nothing would please him more than to support tax reduction but he cannot do so in the face of continuing federal deficits. It was because of his opposition that Byrd made Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., No. 2 Democrat on the committee, floor manager for the measure.

Long followed Byrd by stating the administration position that it is a sound and balanced bill. He said it will provide an economic stimulus that will insure continuation of the present prosperity.

The Louisiana senator said the present economic upturn will have lasted 38 months by March, second longest in this century, and he declared that it could not continue indefinitely without some action such as a tax cut.

Fred B. Rooney

Rep. Fred Rooney Seeks Re-election

STROUDSBURG — U.S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney of Bethlehem, announced in Stroudsburg yesterday that he will seek a full two-year term to congress in the coming election.

Rooney, formerly state senator from Northampton County, was the winner of a special election last July 30 to succeed the late Rep. Francis E. Walter of Easton.

See Related Story on Page 3.

Rooney, a Democrat, represents the 15th Congressional District composed of Northampton, Monroe, Carbon, and Pike Counties.

Rooney said yesterday that since he went to Congress he has been "instrumental in gaining approval of a wide range of federal grants and loans."

He said the 15th district has been the recipient of more than $4,840,000 in federal aid in the past year.

"Since I came to Washington it has been my sole aim to provide service to all the people of the 15th district. I have tried to do so — and shall continue to try if re-elected — without consideration for political affilation or personal preference.

"I pledged at that time, to continue to work for projects initiated by communities in my district, to aid them in beginning new programs where they are desired and to press for completion of work begun previously by Tad Walter.

"I am happy that we have been able to successfully complete work in Washington on many of those projects but I am eager to carry out the major program still before us.

"It is imperative, I think, that we wage a strong and unrelenting campaign for approval of the Tocks Island National Recreation Area.

"While western regions of the U.S. have received large scale appropriations for the development of national parks and recreation sites for many years, the eastern section of the country has been relatively shortchanged.

"Tocks Island, which will serve the largest concentration of population in America is an opportunity to remedy that imbalance.

"I am eager, also, to do everything in my power to continue to work for a better economic climate in my district.

"I am particularly anxious that we do everything we possibly can to retrain those who are unemployed because the only skills they know are those which can no longer be used in the mines and the mills of our district.

"I believe that the economic salvation of our nation and our community must be found in better education and in better training for vocational employment.

"For this reason, as for many others, I am hopeful that the people of my district will return me to my office in Washington."

Rooney, who defeated Robert Bartlett, Bethlehem Republican for the unexpired term, is a 1944 graduate of Bethlehem High School and holds a degree of business administration from the University of Georgia.

He served during World War II with the 515th Paratroop infantry regiment in Europe.

In 1958 he was elected to the state senate to fill a vacancy left by the death of Sen. Joseph Yosko of Bethlehem.

Rooney was married last Dec. 14 to the former Evelyn Davis Lisle. He is a member of the Veterans Affairs Committee of the House.

Military Bans Free Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Free distribution of cigarettes in all military hospitals will be banned in the near future, the Defense Department announced Thursday.

The department said also it will establish an educational program for military personnel on cigarette smoking hazards, but that "no prohibition is being considered as to the individual purchasing, possession or use of tobacco products."

At a congressional hearing on smoking and health, one tobacco-state House member announced he's going to start smoking again.

"If we are going to die anyway," Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., said, "we might as well enjoy ourselves. I haven't smoked for ten years, and now I am going to begin again."

Chelf, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, made his remark to representatives of Americans for Democratic Action who were asking Congress for a broad program to educate the American people about what they termed the health hazards of cigarette smoking.

Scientists Hope To Swerve Craft On Collision Course

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A camera-laden Ranger 6 spacecraft sped toward the moon Thursday and space scientists said a crucial midcourse direction change of only 600 miles would have to be made to put it on target.

A radio signal was to be beamed to the spacecraft about 3 a.m. Eastern Standard Time. If successful, it would ignite the Ranger's small steering engine long enough to swerve the space voyager onto the desired collision course with the moon.

Optimism Voiced

Optimism was voiced by space scientists, who pointed out the Ranger was capable of a midcourse trajectory correction of up to 10,000 miles.

The reaiming point was preset at 16 hours after launch, when the spacecraft would be approximately 75,000 miles from earth.

In announcing the Ranger's slightly faulty trajectory, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said: "This miss distance is well within the correction capability of Ranger's midcourse maneuver rocket engine. The current trajectory of the spacecraft is ahead and slightly below the moon."

Should the correction attempt fail, it is possible the spacecraft could be tilted as it passes the moon so its cameras could take pictures of the lunar surface from the 600-mile distance.

Soaring Camera

The Ranger's sole mission is to snap closeup photos of the lunar surface where an American astronaut may land five years from now.

Equipment aboard the moon vehicle is capable of showing objects on the moon surface as small as a card table.

"We are aiming at the lighted part of the moon," said H.M. Schurmeier, Ranger project officer. "I'm sure we will reach the moon."

A successful Ranger mission, coupled with Wednesday's smooth firing of the Saturn 1 rocket, would mean a major step forward in America's plans for a manned lunar landing before 1970.

Six television cameras were housed in the 804-pound spacecraft launched by the Atlas-Agena rocket from Cape Kennedy at 10:49 a.m.

If the spacecraft completes its immensely intricate 66 - hour flight as planned, it will bear down on a relatively flat portion of the moon's surface about 4:49 a.m. EST on Sunday.

Eleven previous U.S. moonshot attemps have failed.

3,000 Pictures An Hour

During the last 10 minutes of flight the cameras are to go into action, relaying as many as 3,000 pictures by radio signal to receiving equipment at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Goldstone, Calif.

Closeup photos showing the nature of the moon's surface, a subject of man's speculation for centuries, are needed so scientists can design a vehicle capable of operating on the lunar terrain.

It is the Saturn, whose 1.5 million pounds of thrust hurled the world's heaviest satellite into an earth orbit Wednesday, which will be called on to power the first manned lunar flight.

Schurmeier and other project officials gave newsmen a briefing about three hours after launch.

Normal Performance

"The vehicles performed pretty nominally," said Seymour Himmell, Agena project manager. "It looks like a pretty good one."

"We had some difficulties during the countdowns, none major,"said launch director Robert Gray.

"The Atlas performance was very good—as good as you can get," Gray said.

Schurmeier said the spacecraft's solar panels dropped into position at 11:49 a.m., one hour after launch. He said the craft locked into position to draw power from the sun's rays for the Ranger's batteries. Without the solar power, the batteries would not last through the entire mission.

With the two panels extending outward in a 15-foot span at the base of the spacecraft, the Ranger resembled a giant insect from another world.

Even if all other aspects of the complicated mission are performed as intended, the Ranger's success won't be known until early Sunday morning when the picture-taking is to begin.

When the Ranger is 15 minutes away from impact on the moon's surface the cameras are to turn on for a five-minute warmup.

Ten minutes from impact, at 950 miles from the moon, the cameras are to begin a frantic flurry of picture-taking and transmitting.

Three of the cameras are wide-angle and three have narrow-angle lenses.

Red Space Shot Puts 2 In Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — A single rocket hoisted two Soviet space stations into orbit Thursday. One was reported ranging up to 42,000 miles above the earth.

Launching of Elektron 1 and Elektron 2 followed swiftly on the lifting of two American space craft in two days, the mighty Saturn 1 and the camera-packed Ranger 6, headed for the moon.

But there seemed nothing to indicate a Soviet challenge to the U.S. shots in Moscow's terse announcement.

Experts in Washington noted that the United States put three satellites into orbit with a single rocket in June 1961. And U.S. satellites probing radiation belts that circle the earth have reached orbits up to 100,000 miles out in space.

The two Soviet stations apparently were unmanned. The Russians also kept to themselves any information about the size, weight or power of the satellites and the rocket that carried them into space.

Tass said the mission of the space stations is the "simultaneous studying of the internal and external radiation belts of the earth and physical phenomena connected with them."

The United States has obtained considerable information on the radiation belts, both with orbiting satellites and with others sent deep into space or into orbit around the sun.

The news agency said both space stations went into orbit and all systems were functioning normally.

Orbiting in a vast oblong trajectory, Elektron 2 was looping the earth on a path taking it 42,352 miles away at its farthest point and 285 miles away at its nearest. A complete orbit was to take 22 hours, 40 minutes.

Elektron 1 was circling the globe every 2 hours, 49 minutes in an orbit bringing it to 252 miles from earth at its closest point and 4,410 miles at its most distant.

Soviet ground stations were reported picking up and processing telemetric data from the space vehicles.

Peace Force For Cyprus Proposed

LONDON (AP)—Britain and the United States have called an extraordinary meeting of the main parties in the Cyprus dispute for Friday to present their joint plans for rushing a NATO army to the eastern Mediterranean island.

Government informants said the British and the Americans will seek the approval of Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios for the dispatch of the peace force to Cyprus.

An announcement said the Turkish, Greek and Cypriot foreign ministers, with delegates of the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities, will meet with British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler, Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys and U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce at Marlborough House.

The call came amid indications that President Makarios, a Greek Cypriot, intends to veto the British-American plan for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization peacekeeping force unless it is made answerable to the United Nations.

The agreement of President Johnson's administration to play a role in dousing the east Mediterranean flashpoint was conveyed to the British by Ambassador Bruce.

Bruce met with Sandys to spell out the composition, strategy and mission of the force, which is expected to include troops of six or seven members of NATO.

These would be Britain, Turkey and Greece — the powers now guaranteeing Cypriot independence — the United States, West Germany, Italy and possibly France.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union moved in to bolster Cypriot resistance to the scheme. An "authorized statement" carried by the official Tass agency said Cyprus has officially advised Moscow there is now "a serious danger of aggression" against the island by NATO powers.

In New York, the Russians told U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, who has sent observers to Nicosia and to the London conference on Cyprus, that peace in Cyprus and everywhere else is the Security Council's job.

Good Morning!

The Panamanian position on the Canal matter seems to be that you can't make an omelet without killing the hen.

U. S. Beefs Up Nuclear Punch

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official report indicates that improved means of foiling antimissile defenses, such as the Soviet Union may have, are being put into the nuclear warheads of long-range U.S. rockets.

This cryptic reference was contained in the annual report Thursday of the Atomic Energy Commission. It told also of "substantial increases" in the destructive power of warheads for the Polaris submarine-launched missile and the long-range Minuteman and Titan rockets.

This year's report contained far more information on nuclear arms than any previous summary.

The reported progress in yield to weight ratios means that a missile can carry a bigger, more powerful warhead over the same range without an over-all increase in the launching weight of the missile.

Power Packed

Thus, a Polaris or Minuteman missile which up to now has carried a warhead of slightly less than one megaton power may have been increased by a factor of two or more. The big Titan missle probably has moved up toward the 10 or more megatons of bomber-carried weapons.

A megaton is the equivalent of the energy released by one million tons of conventional explosive.

In official statements, the Defense Departmet has been referring for the past few years to improved penetration capability for ballistic missiles to get through defenses by the use of decoys and electronic equipment.

Neutralization Problem

The AEC report seemed to suggest further that progress is being made toward protecting the nuclear charge in a warhead against the neutralization effect created by an antimissile bursting in the area.

The AEC, however, referred to this only cryptically. The AEC commented that 1963 was notable for attainment of substantial increases in the yield of warheads for the Polaris, Minuteman and Titan.

Kresge Demands Loyalty

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Republican committeemen and women were told last night to be loyal to the Scranton Administration or join the Democratic Party.

Harold B. Kresge, newly recognized GOP county chairman, made these remarks at a county committee meeting where he bid firmly to take the reigns of the county Republican Party.

"We won the election and lost the war," said Kresge in an obvious reference to the fact the GOP-dominated county board of commissioners has hired more Democrats than Republicans for county jobs so far.

It was apparent last night in the Stroud Township municipal building, however, that Kresge has not yet won the support of his committeemen and women.

Lukewarm Response

He drew only lukewarm response to a vehement attack on disloyal persons in his own party and on Democrats in general.

Raymond Roberts, Jr., a committeeman from Stroud Township and a Stroud Union School director, asked Kresge:

"The courthouse has been criticized (for the commissioners hiring Democrats); is it not true that this is also going on in other county row offices?"

Robert was referring to the fact that Edward Metzgar, sheriff, and Jeannette F. Batory, register and recorder, both Republicans, have Democrats working in their offices.

Kresge replied, "I don't care who they are. We can't run the Scranton administration if we have traitors in our ranks."

Roberts then asked if it were true that Mrs. Grace Palmer, vice chairman of the Monroe County Democratic committee, is still a trustee of East Stroudsburg State College.

Term Protection

Kresge said the board of trustees at the college is protected by term appointments and Gov. Scranton has said he will not remove them until their terms expire.

The GOP county chieftain also renewed his attack on Miss Virginia Katsaromitsos, county director of the State Dept. of Assistance, office in Stroudsburg.

"Is it not true that a county resident was denied a job with the DPA in this county because the director felt it was necessary to go to Philadelphia or Pittsburgh to find a case worker?" said Kresge.

Kresge said a county resident had passed the civil service examination for case worker for the DPA but was denied a job in the local office.

"I stand to be challenged on this. I am sick and tired of these kind of actions," he said.

Also at the meeting called to discuss the problems of overcoming the Democrats in voter registration in the county were:

Page Varner, state committeeman; Stanley Rader and John Price, GOP commissioners; Mrs. Joseph Shukaitis, county committee secretary, and Atty. Phillip Williams, Lincoln Day dinner committeeman.

In a sharp debate over patronage within the party, Kresge told John Detrick, Smithfield Township committeeman, that if Detrick disagreed with Kresge's decisions he should quit the Republican party.

Riots Erupt In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — An unruly crowd of more than 400 white persons smashed windows in cars driven by Negroes late Thursday to cap a day of violence set off by scheduled integrationist picketing at a grade school.

Fights flared between demonstrators and police.

Plans to picket Murray Hill Public School were called off in the early afternoon, but police on foot with billy clubs and assisted by mounted troops were unable to disperse the crowd—made up mostly of young men, many armed with bricks, bottles and clubs

French Position To Be Clarified

PARIS (AP)—Government officials said President Charles de Gaulle will try to clarify French policy toward Communist and Nationalist China in a semiannual press statement Friday.

French officials suddenly became silent on controversial aspects of the question, pending De Gaulle's statement.

France officially recognized Red China early this week. Wednesday, the semiofficial news agency, Agence France Presse, quoted well - informed French circles as saying De Gaulle had repudiated the idea of two Chinas. This appeared to have been a device by which the De Gaulle government made known it was bowing to Peking's demands that France veer away from the two-Chinas concept.

U.S. Population Goes Up Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States population increased by 2,667,000 in 1963, the Census Bureau estimated Thursday, and said the growth rate was the lowest in 19 years. The gain in 1962 was 2,818,000.

The population on Jan. 1 was estimated at 190,818,000, and the bureau said the 191,000,000 mark would be reached about Feb. 14.

There were 21.8 births for every 1,000 population in 1963, compared to 22.6 births the previous year. The birth rate has declined every year since 1957, when it was 25.2. The postwar peak was 26.5 in 1947.

During 1963, there was an average net increase of 14.1 persons in the population for every 1,000 persons. The net increase was 15.1 for every 1,000 in 1962. The 1963 growth rate was the lowest since 1945 when it was 10.4.

No Showdown On Canal Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Council of the Organization of American States meets Friday on Panama's request for a hemisphere foreign ministers' meeting and charge of U.S. aggression. But diplomats expect a showdown will be put off.

Panama made the request and charge Wednesday night in a note delivered to the OAS, but Latin-American diplomats said the OAS Council, summoned for Friday, will not vote on the Panamanian request.

Miguel Moreno is expected to present his country's case before the OAS, but most Latin-American diplomats said they will ask time for a study of Moreno's arguments. In avoiding an immediate vote on Panama's request, they hope some unforeseen developments may bring an agreement.

12 White Men On Beckwith Jury

JACKSON Miss. (AP) — Twelve white men who promised to put aside any racial feelings have been selected to sit in judgment on Byron de la Beckwith, charged in the rifle slaying of Negro civil rights leader Medgar W. Evers.

Beckwith, 43, a fertilizer dealer from Greenwood, Miss., father of a teen-age boy, faces the possibility of death in the gas chamber for the ambush shooting of Evers at the height of Negro demonstrations in Jackson last summer.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market Thursday put on a fairly steady performance, resisting further decline as trading slackened.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose .84 to 783.44.

Gettysburg Gets $250,000 Gift

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A gift of $250,000 to Gettysburg College for a new football stadium was presented at a luncheon Thursday.

The donor was the Emma G. Musselman Foundation of Biglerville, created by the late C. H. Musselman who amassed a fortune in the fruit processing business. The new fields will be named Musselman Stadium.

The presentation was made by John D. Hauser, trustees of the foundation and president of Musselman Division of Pet Milk Co.

Dr. C. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College, accepted the $250,000 check. He said the stadium would be built on a 16-acre plot south of Lincoln Avenue. It is hoped the field will be ready for use by the 1965 football season, Hanson said.

State Democrats Back Johnson

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The Democratic state organization notified President Johnson Wednesday it has given him unanimous endorsement for renomination and reelection.

In a telegram to the President, state Chairman Otis B. Morse said the state committee adopted a resolution Tuesday pledging Johnson its "complete support." Morse said he believed this was the first presidential endorsement by any Democratic state organization. The declaration virtually assures Johnson of the state's 125 votes at the Democratic national convention beginning Aug. 24 in Atlantic City. The President, who has not yet declared for reelection, is scheduled to address a fund raising dinner here in June.

Blackface Issue Stirs In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Common Pleas Court Thursday considered a city request to dismiss a civil action filed last year by the National Association for Advancement of Colored People to forbid the use of blackface makeup in the annual New Year's Day Mummers Parade. The city says the parade was held without blackface. The NAACP, however, contends a final determination must be made before the next parade.

Frats In Trouble For Hazing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Robert F. Longley, dean of men at the University of Pennsylvania, announced Thursday that two fraternities on the university campus had been fined and placed on social probation for hazing pledges.

The fines of $100 each, and withdrawal of social privileges until April 13, were ordered by the university's Interfraternity Council against the Sigma Alpha Mu and the Alpha Epsilon Pi, two of the largest on the campus.

The council took action after it was reported the fraternities held 30 minute calisthentic sessions for their pledges last Tuesday.

The order prohibits the fraternities to hold dances, cocktail hours or other social events, and bans girls from the houses during the probation. The $100 fines will be turned over to charity or to the university's scholarship fund.

Rhodes Seeks Re-election

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. George M. Rhodes, D-Pa., announced Wednesday he is a candidate for reelection to his ninth term in Congress from Pennsylvania's sixth congressional district.

Rhodes, who represents Berks Northumberland and Schuylkill counties, is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee.

FBI Arrests Holdup Man

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Arthur W. Couts of Philadelphia, was captured by FBI agents Thursday just one month after he was placed on the bureau's list of 10 most wanted.

Couts, an ex-convict, was a fugitive since last July when he and an accomplice allegedly held up a grocery.

Agents arrested him in a rooming house seven blocks from the holdup scene.

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director who announced the arrest in Washington, said Couts had dyed his hair and grown a mustache in an attempt at disguise.

Goldwater Claims 'Inside Track' In GOP Race For Nomination

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said this week it is his belief as of now he has the inside track to the Republican presidential nomination.

"The advantage I have most every place is the advantage of having been there many times," he said at a news conference preceding an address to a GOP fund raising dinner.

Asked if he anticipated a hard fight for the nomination, the senator replied:

"There is no need for a fight. The issues are very clear," Goldwater said he would not enter into personality clashes in the campaign. He did not expand on the statement.

Fills In Details

The Arizona Republican also filled in a few details in Washington with Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, whose name has been mentioned with increasing regularity in the Republican presidential picture.

Goldwater said Scranton told him he wanted to lead an uncommited Pennsylvania delegation to the GOP convention in San Francisco next summer.

"He wanted to know what I could do to help him. I told him there was nothing I could do," Goldwater disclosed.

Goldwater said he would not attempt to stop any supporters from entering his name in the Pennsylvania primary April 28. "This is a citizen's right," he said.

As for Scranton's becoming an announced Republican candidate Goldwater said he felt the Pennsylvania governor will not seek the nomination.

Not Convinced

"I've never been convinced that Bill wants to run for the presidency," he remarked.

Switching to the New Hampshire primary, Goldwater said he still thinks he can come out with the majority of that state's delegates.

He admitted that Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, another announced candidate, "would be a good candidate anywhere," but he didn't honestly know whether she was aiming for the party's presidential or vice presidential nomination.

Goldwater said he agreed with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's view that there is only a shade of difference between all the GOP presidential contenders - announced or unannounced.

"There are shades of differences among Republicans, but not great ones," he contended.

Kidney Transplants Successful In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Two apparently successful kidney transplants - one to an 11-year-old girl—were announced Thursday by Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital.

The patients survived the critical three-month period after their operations and appear to be on the road to recovery.

They were indentified as Robert Weney, 26, of Philadelphia, and Paulette Strausser, 11, of Lessport, Pa. Paulette is believed one of the youngest patients ever to receive a kidney transplant.

Paulette received a kidney from her mother, Mrs. May Helen Strausser, 35, in mid-November while Weney underwent a kidney transplant from an uncle one week arlier.

Weney, with a history of kidney failure, became critical last June and in August he was given a first transplant from his brother, William, 23.

Second Transplant

Three weeks later his body began to reject the transplant and it was removed after two more weeks. He was maintained for six weeks with drugs and use of an artificial kidney and early in November received a kidney from his uncle, Charles Fields, 41.

He recovered sufficiently to be permitted a one-week vacation at home during the Christmas season.

Paulette, with a prolonged history of kidney disease, became bedridden last year. The transplant was performed in November and doctors predict that if her improvement continues she will be able to go home in two weeks.

Both patients are in semi-isolation to protect them from infection. However, the amount of drugs given has been reduced gradually to prepare them for release from the hospital.

Hahnemann Teams

Both operations were performed by teams headed on the medical side by Dr. Albert H. Brest, associate professor of medicine at the college, and on the surgical side by Dr. Robert Bower, assistant professor of surgery at the college.

Brest and Bower said that about 200 kidney transplants have been performed in the past two years and that approximately 15 individuals survived for a year or more. The survival rate is much higher among the 50 or so such operations performed where an identical twin serves as the donor.

They said that the operations on Paulette and Weney were the first performed at Hahnemann. It is believed only one other such operation — unsuccessful—has been performed in Philadelphia.

The doctors said that the most successful kidney transplants other than identical twins are those by mother-daughter and father-son patients. However there have been successes between totally unrelated individuals.

They said that major developments in the last two years have made for the possibility of greater success by suppressing the bodys rejection of the transplanted kidney.

Philadelphia Demos Back Musmanno

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Democratic Committee announced Thursday it is backing state Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno for United States senator.

The party's state Policy Committee meets Friday in Harrisburg to endorse a candidate for the April 28 primary.

Republicans have slated incumbent Hugh Scott for a second six-year term.

Musmanno couldn't be reached for comment. His office in Pittsburgh said it didn't know where the justice had gone.

Others seeking the Democratic nomination are Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs; Prothonotary David Roberts of the Allegheny County Common Pleas Court; Milton Shapp, Philadelphia industrialist and state Sen. Leonard Staisey of Allegheny County.

Francis R. Smith, Philadelphia Democratic chairman, said "Musmanno is the man to have in Pennsylvania on the ticket with President Johnson" in the Nov. 3 election.

Clark Urges Cabinet Post For Housing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., introduced Wednesday legislation to carry out President Johnson's proposal for creation of a cabinet-level department of housing and community development.

The bill to establish an 11th cabinet post was co-sponsored by Senate Democratic whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn.

A similar proposal by the late President Kennedy was killed by Congress several years ago. In renewing the proposal, Johnson removed the words "urban affairs" from the proposed title of the new department and substituted "community development" to make it more attractive to rural lawmakers.

Despite this change, chances for final congressional action on the plan this year appeared remote.

It would not add any new programs, merely combine the existing Federal Housing Agency, the Federal Mortgage Association and related agencies into one department and elevate it to cabinet status.

School Faces Law Suit For Bible Reading

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — A preliminary hearing is scheduled to be held here Feb. 11 on a suit charging a school district in Lebanon County with ignoring the U.S. Supreme Court decision banning classroom Bible reading and prayer recitatin.

The suit was filed this week in Federal Court in Lewisburg, Pa. by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Snavely of North Lebanon Twp., and their two children.

The Snavelys contend that their daughter, Victoria Mary, 10, and son, Eric, 7, are compelled to participate in the classroom Bible reading and prayer recitation in the Cornwall - Lebanon Suburban Joint School district.

Gerald H. Goldberg, a Harrisburg attorney who volunteered to represent the Snavelys, said in filing the suit that the school district has been in defiance of the Supreme Court ruling.

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP)—The finance minister of the former French Congo said this week he would like to see five former French colonies — the Congo, Gabon, Central African Republic, Chad and Cameroon—join in an African Common Market.

Educational Program Urged To Curb Cigarette Sales

HARRISBURG (AP) — Atty. General Walter E. Alessandroni says much can be done in the fields of local enforcement and education to stamp out illegal cigarette sales to teenagers.

"It's primarily a matter of education," he maintained Wednesday in an interview.

"If we can convince young people not to smoke until they are 21, chances are they will never take up the habit."

As for statewide enforcement, however, Alessandroni had his doubts.

"We couldn't possibly police every store and cigarette vending machine," he declared. "But I think the local district attorneys, police and school systems working together can come up with the answers."

Alessandroni is planning a meeting later this month with Gov. Scranton and State Health Secretary Charles L. Wilbar to go over the problem of teen-age smoking.

Wilbar asked the Justice Department for help last week in light of the recent report on smoking by the U.S. Surgeon General's office.

"There is ample evidence now that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer," Wilbar said. "Yet any minor can insert coins, pull a lever and get cigarettes in Pennsylvania."

The state penal code prohibits the sale of cigarettes to anyone under 21 years of age.

Those found guilty are subject to a $25 fine, 30 days in jail or both for the first offense, a $100 fine, 30 days in jail or both for the second offense, and a $500 fine, one year imprisonment or both for each subsequent offense.

Youngsters 16 years of age and over caught smoking, but refusing to tell where they obtained the cigarettes, are subjec to a $5 fine, five days in jail or both. Those under 16 are to be turned over to juvenile court.

Alessandroni said an effort would be made to enforce regulations calling for the posting of notices on vending machines and in stores warning minors against buying cigarettes.

People In The Spotlight

Kenneth Froslid, a Long Island picture editor for a magazine has nothing personal against the World's Fair.

But he doesn't see why his three autos have to be used as an advertising medium to advertise the fair. He took issue with the 1964 New York license plates that advertise the World's Fair. Froslid took the matter to court and the judge agreed. Now you can order plates that don't plug the fair, the judge ruled.

"What stirred me up," Froslid said, "was the arbitrary way the state put the legend on the plates. It has no right to compel me -- without even asking — to carry free advertising on my car."

Fernando E. Olympio, now a Princeton student, has appealed to world opinion for an official inquiry to determine who killed his father and why. His father, President Sylvanus Olympio was killed in a military coup d'etat in Lome, Togo's capital in Jan. 1963.

The 23-year-old college junior said, "I hope world opinion can encourage someone — perhaps the African states — to set up a commission of inquiry to get at the truth."

Rosa Kuleshova, a 22-year-old Russian girl still has the scientists mystified.

The girl, Russians claim, has the ability to run her fingers over the text of a newspaper and in this manner "read" it. The sensitivity of her fingertips amazed the scientists who have been working with her for over a year.

Now she has come up with another baffling feat — with her fingers she can determine the color of an object.

Rep. Emanuel Cellar wants to tamper with the armed forces menus. He proposes that the servicemen eat roast duckling. He doesn't want to change the rest of the menu — he just wants the duckling to compete with hamburger, pork chop or chicken wing on an equal basis.

The Brooklyn Democrat has reasons for his suggestions. He's trying to help Long Island duck "farmers." Three million pounds of frozen duckling now exists and the congressman feels the military is "anti-duckling." He's written to the secretaries of the services.

Mrs. Loretta Cowan, who for 18 years dealt with the world's VIPs, is now slipping quietly into retirement.

She has been receptionist, switchboard operator and finder of diplomats.

Mrs. Cowan's job: she worked for the secretary general of the United Nations. She's served with Trygve Lie of Norway, the late Dag Hammarskjold and the present secretary U Thant.

Jobless Rolls Up In State

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Both employment and unemployment rose in Pennsylvania between mid - November and mid-December, 1963, the state Labor and Industry Department reported this week.

The number of Pennsylvanians with jobs showed a month-to-month gain of 21,400 and reached 4,309,500 in December. Over the same two months, the jobless total went up by 16,000 to 310,000 or 6.7 per cent of the labor force.

Rooney Pays Visit To Courthouse

STROUDSBURG — Congressman Fred B. Rooney (D-Bethlehem) spoke briefly yesterday afternoon to Monroe County commissioners after his speech at the Stroudsburg Rotary Club meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

"Gentlemen," he said after he was introduced, "it is good to be here and talk with you. If there are any questions you would care to ask please feel free."

There were no questions from the commissioners and Rooney asked forgiveness for his quick arrival and departure saying, "I must get back to the airport and up in the air before I get weathered in."

The commissioners later met with Martin Brotter of Bellante and Clauss, an engineering, architecture and planning firm of Scranton.

$1,000 Retainer

Brotter said that his firm would like to be named the consultants for county planning. He estimated that a retainer fee of $1,000 would be required.

He later said that $2,000 should see the county through for one year. This would include the consultant fee, a secretary for the planning commission and other essential items needed during the year.

Brotter said the first thing to do was to begin looking for a director for the planning commission. He stressed the point that the man should be qualified so that the county would be eligible to receive federal grants to aid in the planning.

He said the cost for a planning director for one year would be $15,000. Of this amount the county would pay approximately $6,000 and the remainder would come from the federal government.

During the year the director would conduct an educational program showing movies and making speeches to various organizations in the county. No action was taken.

CD Business

Marvin Abel, Monroe County Civil Defense director, told the board that the proposed eight feet ceilings in the basement would meet with the requirements to place the scheduled three-high bunks in the dormitory. The commissioners approved the change.

In other CD business, M. R. Kiefer, representative of Rinker Kiefer and Rake, architects, reported that the renovation of the courthouse basement has reached the 15 per cent completion mark.

Kiefer said that the construction of the men's room in the basement, not covered by the CD contract, would cost the county $1,306 and would include heating, air conditioning and plumbing. The commissioners agreed to the figure and instructed the work to be done.

The board also approved the installation of an intercom system which will tie in the commissioners office, Judge Davis' office and several other offices with the offices in the basement.

The cost for the project is $1,794 and half of it would be returned to the county through the matching fund program of the federal government.

Commissioners Name Brown Barrett Twp. Tax Assessor

STROUDSBURG — Carl Brown of Barrett Twp. yesterday was named assessor in Barrett Twp. by Monroe County commissioners. He will fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Gweneth Seese.

However, he was not the only person nominated for the position. Commissioner Stuart Pipher nominated Donald Dougherty for the appointment but his nomination did not receive a second. John Price nominated Brown, Stanley Rader seconded the motion and Pipher made it unanimous.

Commissioner Price nominated two more men for consideration as members of the planning commission. He named John Detrick of East Stroudsburg RD 2, and Arthur Henning of Stroud Twp.

Charles Haney, superintendent of the county home, telephoned the commissioners and told them that he had employed Ralph VanBuskirk as night supervisor. No salary was established as the matter must come before the salary board.

Pension Halted

The commissioners immediately stopped the signed voucher which would have paid VanBuskirk his first pension check from the county.

A person drawing pension from the county can not receive pension payment and a salary, Rader said.

In other business:

Glenn Woodling was authorized to build a partition at the surplus food center on Bank Alley, Stroudsburg. This will create an office for H. Ray Saunders, surplus food administrator.

Woodling will also build some book shelves in the office of John Litts, Monroe County superintendent of public schools.

The commissioners denied the request of R. C. Kenney, partial paralyzed resident of Monroe County, to set up a magazine stand in the front portion of the courthouse.

Rader said, "I am of the belief that it would cheapen the courthouse."

C. A. Nauman, chief assessor, reported that the property assessment books will be finished by mid-February and that he would like the tax collectors to pick them up when they are completed.

He added that he would only distribute the books to tax collectors who have posted their bonds as required by law.

The commissioners heard Earl Howell complain of the treatment he has received from Harold Kresge. Howell told the board of his seeking employment with the state and that Kresge has "been giving me the business".

Rader told him that there were no job openings in any of the county agencies but that he would keep him in mind and let him know when one opened.

Howell told the board that he had made application for state employment and 10 months had gone by without any word.

He said he went to Harrisburg and was told that his application was never received.

"I told Kresge this and he said, 'It must have been misladi.'"

Rader, Price and Pipher met with William Large, district supervisor of the State Municipal Services, and Joseph Churnock, township engineer from State Municipal Services, to discuss county aid requests by political subdivisions in the county.

Large told the commissioners, in the cases of Stroudsburg and Pocono Twp., "We have been turning down the request from these two political subdivisions because they have not completed the form properly We have informed them and they will submit new forms."

Rader said, "However we will continue to make allocations to the subdivisions on a population and mileage basis. This we have been doing and it was done by the previous board."

Catholic High Fund $153,892

EAST STROUDSBURG — St. Matthew's Building Fund Drive General Chairman, Christie D. Shull, announced last night that pledges and contributions amounting to $153,892 have now been reported by the Advance Gifts Committee. The drive is for the new Catholic high school to be built at Chipperfield Drive, Stroud Twp.

He expressed satisfaction with the progress made thus far in the phase of the campaign and commended Advance Gift Co-chairmen Walter S. Peeney, Sr. and Edward K. Driebe for the excellent report.

Peeney and Driebe paid a high tribute to their vice-chairmen and captains and declared that several prospects remain to be contacted.

Included in this weeks returns was a check in the amount of $4,502.67 representing a contribution from the Teen Age Dances.

The donation was designated for the furtherance of teen age activities in the new Notre Dame High School.

The Teen Age Dances were conducted in St. Matthew's Auditorium for five years by a committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Viechnicki.

Area Police Alerted For Gun Toter

WILKES-Barre — State Police in Monroe and Pike Counties yesterday were asked to be on the alert for a gun-waving robber who was last seen on Interstate Rt. 80 at Dunmore.

The unidentified man jumped into the car of William Martin, 32, of Forty Fort, as the car rounded a corner in Pittston.

The robber pointed a .45 calibre gun at the driver and demanded to know where he was going.

Martin told the gunman he was going to Scranton, the gunman replied, "Good, that's where I'm going too."

He directed Martin to drive around the city for about an hour. He then told Martin to drive him to Dunmore and leave him off near Interstate Rt. 80.

Before leaving the car, State Police said, the gunman robber Martin of his money, $8, and a greeting card display cabinet. Martin then notified police.

State Police in the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area set up roadblocks and patrols were dispatched from substations at Mt. Pocono, Fern Ridge and Milford.

Rooney Sees 'Better Luck' For LBJ To Get Program Through Congress

STROUDSBURG — Congressman Fred B. Rooney, Democratic representative from Bethlehem, predicted yesterday that President Lyndon B. Johnson will have "better luck getting his program through Congress than any President since Franklin Roosevelt."

Rooney also told the Stroudsburg Rotary Club meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel that he has had "good results in trying to vie for certain projects in the 15th district" which he represents.

He said that almost $5 million in federal grants and loans had been made to communities in the 15th district since he was elected in a special summer vote July 30, 1963, to take the seat of the late Francis E. Walter.

$1,785,059 to Monroe

Federal aid to Monroe County projects, which Rooney actively sought, totals $1,785,059. It includes an $829,124 loan for 57 public housing units in East Stroudsburg; $316,500 loan for the Camelback Ski Area; a $343,000 grant for a new East Stroudsburg borough water system; and $296,435 matching funds grant for an addition to the Monroe County Home for Aged in Kellersville.

"We have been well-represented for the last 32 years. Congressmen and I have been very fortunate in getting public projects for this district," Rooney said.

He said he has "high hopes" that the proposed Tocks Island National Recreation Area will be acted upon favorably by Congressional committees.

Rooney praised the transition of national government after the assassination of John F. Kennedy to President Johnson, who he said has won the respect of the nation, both political parties and the world.

He said it had been "an awesome experience" to move from the state senate in Harrisburg to Washington. "The millions of dollars we used to worry about in Harrisburg, they just sort of scrape from the tables in Washington," he said.

Announcing that he would run for re-election this fall, Rooney quoted James Reston, chief of the Washington bureau of the News Times, describing a member of the U.S. House of Representatives as "a man the shortest distance between two years."

The normal term in the House is two years. Rooney is serving less than one year of the unexpired term of Congressman Walter.

After the Rotary meeting, Rooney conferred with representatives of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau on their opposition to expansion of the minimum wage law to cover resort workers now exempted.

Rooney repeated his position that he understands the special problem of the resort industry, which gives room and board to its employes, and would try to liberalize provisions of the proposed new minimum wage law.

He later visited the county commissioners at the courthouse briefly before returning by plane to Washington. He flew into Hamlen's Airport in East Stroudsburg from the Allentown - Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

Rooney predicted early passage of the Administration's tax-cut proposals and prophesied that final action on the controversial civil rights measure will come within the next month.

"The tax bill is now being debated on the floor of the Senate and, although a handful of Senators have taken exception to a few provisions in the bill, the leadership believes that action may be taken in a matter of days," Rooney said.

The Congressman pointed out that the civil rights bill "was reported out of committee yesterday for debate in the house." Rooney said the measure is now "right on schedule as Chairman Howard Smith (of the House Rules Committee) promised a month ago."

In the international field, Rooney said that the late President Kennedy succeeded in seizing the initiative away from Russia and bringing it back to the free world. He said the action of "all Nations except two — Cuba and Red China" when the President was assassinated "was the greatest demonstration of respect and affection for an American President and this Country in the Nation's history."

Hopes For Tocks Action

Rooney said that he hopes for House action on the proposed Tocks Island National Recreation Area "within a matter of weeks". He emphasized that "this is the first time in the Country's history that the huge population centers of the East have been offered a recreation area of sufficient size and beauty to make it truly worthwhile."

Cost-Cutting

Turning to President Johnson's relationship with the Congress, Rooney said that "almost all reasonable members of both parties realize that the President means what he says when he promises to cut costs. Lyndon Johnson is doing what the so-called conservatives have promised to do for years but haven't done — he is putting the Departments and agencies of the Administration on notice that they had better make every penny count."

2-Car Crash At Fourth, McConnell

STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg police yesterday at 3:52 p.m. investigated a two-car accident at the intersection of Fourth and McConnell Streets, Stroudsburg. Theye were no injuries.

Drivers were Frank Edinger, 75, of 701 Scott St., Stroudsburg and Harry B. Weber, 16, of Stroudsburg RD 2.

Police said Edinger was traveling south on Fourth Street, stopped at a stop sign, saw nothing coming and started across McConnell Street. The Edinger car was struck by the Weber vehicle.

Police said damage to the Weber car was extensive.

Tocks Recreation Area

The fight for the first large national recreation area in the Eastern United States is now at a critical stage in the Congress.

Three similar bills are now in the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and a fourth identical bill is in the same committee of the Senate. Hearings on these bills are expected soon.

And grass roots, public support is needed.

We, as a newspaper, strongly support construction of the Tocks Island Dam and creation of the Tocks Island National Recreation Area.

We believe it is important to Monroe County, the region around us, and the entire Northeast.

Looking to the future, we are in the center of what will some day be a much more heavily populated area. We are already growing and in the direct path of growth by the large seaboard metropolis running from Washington, D. C., to Boston, Mass.

Open land and recreation areas must be saved now from exploitation and ruin if this metropolis is to be livable in 50 or 100 years.

A Tocks Island National Recreation Area would be strategically located for visitors from this huge metropolis.

It is estimated that over 20 million people live within a 75-mile radius of Tocks Island, which includes New York and Philadelphia metropolitan areas. Over 30 million people live within a 100-mile radius and about one third of the nation's total population—about 60 million people—live within a day's driving time.

The National Park Service which would administer the recreation area estimates that seven million people will visit the area annually and make it the most heavily-used facility in the National Park system. It could accommodate 150,000 visitors a day for fishing, hunting, hiking, camping, boating, picnicing and scenic driving.

The economic impact of the area on the surrounding region would be tremendous. One estimate is that the recreation area would cause spending of $80 million a year in the surrounding New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania counties.

In addition to these arguments for the recreation area are the arguments for action on the proposal by Congress now.

The Delaware River Basin Water Resources Association, composed of business, civic and professional leaders, said this week that Congressional action is needed now because:

1. "Land values in some sections of the Tocks Island area have risen sharply because of the activities of speculators anticipating the creation of the TINRA (Tocks Island National Recreation Area)."

2. Development of the dam and recreation should proceed together to avoid confusion, duplication, and waste of money. If the Army Corps of Engineers can acquire all the land for both major projects at one time, it will cost the government and taxpayers less.

We agree with both arguments and urge Congressional action in this session.

Write To Congress

This newspaper, with many in the Delaware River Basin, has supported the Tocks Island Dam and National Recreation Area from the beginning.

Many private organizations, businesses, civic groups and individuals have supported it. Some have opposed the dam and the recreation area.

The time has come for the independent voter, individual citizen, and resident of the area directly affected by the dam and recreation area to speak up, to write Congressmen from this area and other Congressmen whose opinions and votes will decide the fate of the two projects.

The status of the two projects is this: Congress has authorized the dam and appropriated $250,000 for advance planning by the Army Corps of Engineers. President Johnson asked for another $150,000 for further planning on the dam in his new budget.

But the legislation authorizing the recreation area is still locked in committees.

Senate Bill 606, introduced by Sen. Joseph H. Clark of Pennsylvania and supported by Senators Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Jacob Javits of New York, Clifford Case and Harrison Williams of New Jersey.

It is in the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, of which Sen. Henry Johnson of Washington is chairman and will first be considered by a subcommittee of which Sen. Alan Bible of Nevada is chairman.

Letters stating your opinion on this bill should be sent to these senators now at the Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Similar bills are in the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

They are House Bill 2632, sponsored by John P. Saylor of Pennsylvania, a Republican, and House Bill 8696, sponsored by Frank Thompson Jr. of New Jersey, a Democrat.

House Bill 2441 was introduced by the late Congressman Francis E. Walter, a Democrat. His post is now held by Fred B. Rooney, Democrat of Bethlehem who represents this 15th Congressional district.

Letters stating your opinion on these bills or any one of them should be sent to these representatives at the House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Do not underestimate the power of a letter to your Congressman or another on one of the committees considering the Tocks Island Dam and Recreation Area bills. Your support is important and needd now.

Comment Of The Day

"Other parks and recreation areas are being added, and their ranks I hope will soon include the Tocks Island National Recreation Area on the Delaware River."

Chamber Legislation

R. M. Hoot is pleased with the progress of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce legislative committee.

The Colbert St., Stroudsburg, resident, forecasts a lot of beneficial aid will come from the meetings of the group dedicated to keep legislators — state and national — on their toes.

An average of 25 leading Pocono Mountains figures meet periodically to discuss the latest proposed laws hitting the decks in Harrisburg and Washington.

Hoot says, "We've accomplished something at every conference."

Bill Wells, the speediest moving executive in the Stroudsburgs, claims one has to keep up a fast pace to retain his girlish figure.

Bill likes to keep moving at all times to retain his fountain of youth. Besides being a keen spectator at athletic events, Wells plays volleyball at the YMCA and participates in outdoor sports whenever the time allows.

The Wyckoff Store executive has been following the physical fitness program for years. And it has paid off for the Stroudsburg suburban home owner.

Bill Walters, president of the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club, has proven to be a humorist as well as a serious leader of the club's meetings.

At any given time, Bill can toss in a barb to put the assembled at ease. Walters has the dry type of humor that allows everyone to get a chuckle.

Bob Weichel, the Buick man out West Main St. way, new president of the Stroudsburg Council, said the people of the local area should see the snow still piled up in Lackawanna County.

"Cities like Scranton and Carbondale are still a mess," Weichel commented.

"Stroudsburg's streets look immaculate compared with those in Scranton and Carbondale."

"I think we did a darn good job here and the street department should be complimented for its extra efforts," Weichel said.

And what we learn, we want to peddle.
Then self control is quite an art.
And so we need both mind and heart.

We never seem to be contented.
We get and get and then want more.
We find that science has invested
So many ways to keep us poor.

The Pennsylvania Story

Philly Perturbed

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

Irked Philadelphia Lawmakers — This column was somewhat amused this week by the reaction of some of the members of the Philadelphia legislative bloc upon their return to Capitol Hill — reaction brewed by the series of four columns of the past week chiding (among other things) the City of Philadelphia for its own pretty obvious traffic ticket racket.

Yakked one noble legislative gent from the City of Brotherly Love:

"You are putting our great city in a bad light; it begins to make us look stupid."

Our reply:

"Don't be stupid; we didn't put Philadelphia in any 'bad light' — your people did it themselves!"

Interestingly — and somewhat in contrast — many another lawmaker felt just the opposite from the injured wailings of the Philadelphia legislative brethren; pledging instead all-out support for cleaning up the racket.

The "Inactive" candidate — There is absolutely no question about it: Governor William Warren Scranton simply isn't even remotely interested in being considered a potential GOP presidential candidate. . .We can't quite recall anyone backing away from a candidacy possibility with the gusto evidenced by Mr. Scranton — unless of course we go back to 1962 when he just absolutely was not interested in being a gubernatorial candidate

However this week Mr. Scranton showed very clearly and emphatically that he wasn't remotely interested in viewing the White House even on a postcard.

This "clear emphasis" was indicated on one day alone when: (a) in the morning at 9:30 he was interviewed by noted CBS Commentator Walter Cronkite, (b) then lunch at noon with the Republican State Committee big - wigs at the Hotel Hershey, (c) then an "appearance" before the full-blooded GOP State Committee meeting at the hotel — and (d) then an interview with Alan Otten, of the Wall Street Journal.

Next thing you know we'll have French President Charles ("Chaz" for short) DeGaulle riding to hounds up Capitol Hill!

What's Doing In Pennsylvania? — You'd be surprised at the little odds and ends "going on" throughout the state . . .Take for example the coming week:

In Wilkes - Barre there will be a sports, vacation and boat show. . .Tomorrow and Sunday in Punxsutawney (that's in Jefferson County, you guys down Philadelphia - way!) there will be the annual groundhog banquet and shadow forecasting festivities.

Sunday will be a concert by the Delaware Valley Philharmonic Orchestra in the Woodrow Wilson High School in Levittown (that's in lower Bucks County, you upstaters!) . .Tuesday and Wednesday Blanche Thebon will sing with the York Symphony Orchestra (in York).

This coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Yardley Players will present "Kind Sir" in the Community Center (that's on Main Street in Yardley, suh). . .And — at the end of the week, on Saturday, February 8, the Jay Cees Wives Auxiliary of Erie will hold their "Fine Feathers Charity Ball"!. . .Take your pick of some of the highlights of the week in Pennsylvania!

For The Deadline Richards — In case you're planning to jog over (or up or down, as the case may be) to Punxsutawney for the groundhog festivities tomorrow, better take a peek first at the windshield of the old family Bentley and make sure the vehicle has a new inspection sticker glued thereto . . . Secretary of Revenue Ted Smith, in somewhat of a minor pother, warned motorists this week that today is absolutely, positively, unquestionably (etc.etc) the last day on which the old inspection sticker may be used. . . Tomorrow you'll be eligible for receipt of a traffic ticket for violation of the Motor Vehicle Code if you don't have a shiny new sticker on the old Bentley — and State Troopers can read licenses correctly

About Town

—By Gene Brown

The following ten steps to Popularity by G. H. Montgomery was written for factory foremen and supervisors but other folks may find it helpful too.:

1. Respect people, including yourself.
2. Learn how to put yourself in the other fellow's place.
3. Admit that your way may not be the only right way, appreciate other ideas.
4. Be happy; happiness is contagious.
5. Be a peacemaker.
6. Stop trying to win every argument.
7. Learn to be tactful. If you must argue or criticize, don't be offensive.
8. Be patient with yourself. Learn to accept your own faults, and you'll more easily accept those of others.
9. Be modest — but realistic. Don't brush off sincere compliments.
10. Cultivate your sense of humor. The ability to laugh with others and at yourself is your most valuable asset.

As for concrete results — don't expect an overnight miracle. Self - improvement never comes without hard work.

Veteran's Guide

Q — Why should veterans, physicians or others always have the veteran's C-number ready when writing or making a long distance call to the VA on behalf of a veteran?

A — There are many, many veterans with the same or similar names in the list of more than 22,000,000 veterans serviced by VA. With no information available except the name, it is difficult or impossible to identify the proper record or to locate the record in the files.

Q — Can a war orphan who has his entrance into training delayed or interrupted by military service have his completion date extended?

A — Yes. He has five years from the date of his first release or discharge from military service in which to complete his training.

The Allen-Scott Report

Agitators Slip Out

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Some two-score Communist snipers and agitators, in the forefront of the destructive rioting and slaying of four U.S. soldiers in Panama, have been quietly allowed to leave that country.

They include eight professional Red killers who were seized and jailed by Panama National Guardsmen during the costly violence.

The Communist guerrillas — Panamanians, Cubans, Mexicans and other Latins, some of them veterans of the recent Red terrorist operations in Venezuela — were flown to Mexico. From there, a number have gone to Cuba.

Directly involved in this secret exodus are two top Panamanian officials — Education Minister Solis Palma and Eloy Benedetti, legal adviser to the Foreign Minister.

A detailed intelligence report charges that the two leftist Panamanian officials not only cleared the way for the surreptitious departure of the trained Red guerrillas and snipers, but arranged for their coming to Panama and were in constant touch with them during the murderous demonstrations.

Benedetti particularly is credited with being in close contact with the imported Communist goons. He was especially active in getting those jailed released.

These sensational disclosures are being withheld from the U.S. public at the insistence of the State Department — on the ground that their publication might further complicate the tortuous and uncertain deliberations with the leftist-tinged regime of President Roberto Chiari.

Intelligence and military authorities vigorously dispute this view. They are urging President Johnson to make these facts known to prepare the American people for a possible Communist take-over in Panama.

It is contended there is grave danger of that.

Chiari's government is said to be so extensively infiltrated with Reds and fellow travelers that in order to stay in office, he will have to submit to the extremist demands of Palma and Benedetti.

It is asserted that two leftist leaders are claiming that only direct U.S. armed intervention can block Communist seizure of Panama.

The Red Set-up — Communist forces in Panama are operating both underground and in the open.

The underground is financed and supplied chiefly by Cuba via Mexico. The visible apparatus holds key places in government and the university and controls the leftist wing of the Socialist Party, with more than 10,000 members.

Avowed aim of all the left-wing elements is to create the utmost dissension with the U.S. over the Canal and the Panama Zone issues.

The Departments of Education and Agriculture are heavily Communist infiltrated, as are the schools of law, journalism and education of the University of Panama. The university is the headquarters of the Communist underground, and middle-aged "permanent students," actually paid Red agitators, hold key places on the campus.

Thelma King, a pro-Castro-ite leader in the Socialist Party and member of the Panamanian Congress, is a forefront figure of the above-ground apparatus. Significantly, she returned from a visit to Cuba just before the rioting and killings. She made the trip by way of Mexico — as virtually all the leftists do.

An Afro - Panamanian, Mrs. King's principal propaganda organ is radio station Tribuna.

New Otepka Showdown — Senate investigators of the scandal - smeared ouster of Otto Otepka, State Department security official, are on a new collision course with Secretary Dean Rusk.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee is threatening to summon Rusk for public grilling unless he complies with demands for a detailed accounting of the State Department's handling of security problems.

In a bluntly-worded memorandum unanimously approved by the committee, Senator James Eastland, D.-Miss., chairman, has asked Rusk for the following:

A copy of a secret list of 800 State Department employes reputed to have derogatory information in their security files.

A full report on whether the State Department uses government agencies, such as the Central Intelligence Agency, or private organizations for wiretapping and investigative work in Washington.

George Dixon

Mao Tse-deGaulle

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 — An Oriental beauty with the Franco - Sino name of Ymelda (pronounced "Mao Tse-de-Gaulle") came downstairs this morning looking very woebegone. She said she hadn't been able to sleep a wink all night for brooding over what the new alliance between France and Red China would do to the French Ambassador and his wife here.

"Now that the French and Red Chinses have become soulmates," she sobbed brokenly in broken English, "Herve and Nicole Alphand will cease being so French and try to become more Chinese, me allee time think-ee, n'est-ce pas?"

"Nom d'un hors d' oeuvre," I blubbered. "Three times in the last four years Nicole has been rated one of the ten best-dressed women. I suppose now she will strive to be one of the ten best able to pull a plow?"

"The possible changes this tie-up between Paris and Peking will effect at the French Embassy are almost too much to contemplate," shuddered Ymelda. "Instead of playing a lady with French cuisine, Alphand may ask her: 'You wannee won ton soup, machere Madamoiselle from Armentiers?'"

"This is a time when Alphand needs compassion, "I said. "The next time I see him I will comfort him by saying:

" 'All you Frenchmen look alike to me, vive le difference.' "

"It is going to be so difficult for dear Herve and dear Nicole to make the adjustment at their age," said Ymelda. "Herve is 56 and Nicole is 46. Instead of titillating their guests with still wiggling snails, orles escargots they will feel treaty bound to serve eggroll. You know what will happen then:

"Guests will say, 'The trouble with French food is that, no matter how much you eat, an hour later you're hungry.' "

Ymelda said she wondered if the Alphands would now serve rice paddies. I said I didn't believe rice paddies were culinary items,

"Of course they are," contradicted Ymelda. "Haven't you ever heard of paddy de Foole Grass?"

"They could Chinasize that to 'paddy de eggs foo young qu'est-ce que c'est' " I said.

"It is no laughing matter," reprimanded Ymelda. "What if Nicole acquired so much Chinese culture she could no longer pronounce her 'rs' and asked the ranking diplomat on her right if he'd have some more chicken flied lice?"

Ymelda said it was no laughing matter to think of the French Ambassador and his madame pawning the cutlery and switching to chopsticks. She said an invitation to eat at the French Embassy used to be considered second only to dining at the White House, but what would happen if they began serving 100-year - old eggs, which is older than the eggs they serve now.

"And that isn't all they could be concerned about," went on Ymelda darkly. "Nicole is 5 feet 8 and likes high heels, including her husband. Supposing she bound her feet? How would she get around at those parties she promotes so that her husband can corner some American official he wants to talk into something?"

"You mean that's the only reason she gives parties?"

"She is very businesslike," replied Ymelda guardedly.

Dear Abby

There Was A Reason

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My heart feels like a ton of lead inside me. My daughter, who is a lovely girl of 19, asked permission to spend the night with her girl friend, whom we shall call Laurie. We know Laurie and her parents very well. Laurie has spent many nights with our daughter. I wanted our daughter to stop at the grocery store before coming home the next morning, so I telephoned her at Laurie's house. Laurie's mother said that our daughter had not slept there, and she was under the impression that Laurie had spent the night at OUR house. Abby, what am I to think? Why did these girls lie? And where were they?

ONE SAD MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I don't know where the girls were, but I would certainly ask them. They lied for the same reason that most people lie—because they haven't the courage to tell the truth.

DEAR ABBY: What is a mother supposed to say when her son, age 13, brings a schoolmate home with him after school to "study," but they fool around in the yard a while, go into his bedroom and make a few phone calls, and then at about 5:45 when she is setting the table, he says to her, right out loud so his friend can hear, "Mom, can Bruce stay for supper? We'll study afterwards."

THE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: She is supposed to say, "Yes, year." (And she usually does).

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever been kissed by someone who doesn't wear his dentures? It's nothing! My husband (I'll call him Popeye) had all his teeth extracted years ago, but he refuses to wear his plates. I say if he really wants to, he can keep trying until they fit, but it doesn't do any good. My husband reads your column and thinks you're great. Am I right to feel hurt?

POPEYE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: All dentures can be fitted properly, if one will only give the dentist a chance. Tell "Popeye" the next time he wants to kiss you he'll have to catch you in the dentist's office.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "INDIANA SWINGER:" In the immortal words of Henry L. Mencken: "Conscience is that still small voice which warns you that someone may be looking."

Gymnasium

The ancient city-state of Athens produced some of the greatest thinkers the world has ever known. However, Athenians did not emphasize mental development at the expense of physical development. They stressed both.

Public places set aside as areas where males could exercise and participate in athletic contests.

To facilitate bodily movement the athletes competed or exercised in the nude. Athenians called a place set aside for athletic games a "gymnasion" — a place to train named — from "gymnos," naked, and "gymnazein," to train naked. The Greek word gymnasion passed into the English language as "gymnasium."

Ruby Kills Kennedy's Killer

Ruby Killed The Answer To Why JFK Was Killed

By BERNARD GAVZER

DALLAS, Tex. (AP — Jack Ruby killed more than a man. He killed a secret.

The bullet he fired Sunday, Nov. 24, 1963, while millions watched on television, destroyed Lee Harvey Oswald and gave history an unanswerable riddle:

Why was President John F. Kennedy assassinated?

A mountain of evidence—circumstantial though it is—points to Oswald as the killer. But before Oswald could begin to provide answers to the riddle, Ruby pushed his way into the picture and killed Oswald.

Why?

Quick Answes

There have been quick answers: he was insane with grief and killed impulsively to avenge the president. He killed to get publicity for himself and the strip joint he operated. He was part of a super-plot.

Ruby's behavior in jail indicates he may be troubled by the question, too.

He apparently gives little thought to his fate.

"He talks, oh my, how he talks," says one of Ruby's visitors, "but not once have I heard him ask, 'What will happen to me.' He does ask, 'Do people approve of me?'

One of his most frequent visitors is his sister, Eva Grant. Her visits are welcome, but decades of brother-sister bickering do not vanish easily. Something about a recent visit caused Mrs. Grant to recall that when they lived in San Francisco in the early 1930s, Ruby got so angry with her one night he fled their apartment complaining, "If this was my wife, I'd divorce her, but how can you divorce a sister?"

'Real Class'

He doesn't herald her visits with the pride and satisfaction that he displays for some people, such as the rabbi of a substantial conservative synagogue in Dallas.

"Ah, see, you guys," he called out to jailers during a visit by Dr. Hillel Silverman of "I've got a classy visitor now."

Body Builder

Prison routine hasn't cooled Ruby's passion for keeping trim. With close to 185 pounds on his 5-foot-9 frame, he is stocky. But exercise keeps him solid. His thinning hair worries him.

He still swings between emotional extremes. Old Dallas acquaintances say "Ruby is the kind of guy who reads a newspaper and lives it. He reads about a kid getting polio or a dog getting run over, and he cries. The same way in a movie. If the good guy gets double-crossed, Ruby acts like it happens to him."

Image Bothers Him

Most of all he worries about what people think of him.

"When he reads letters from people who tell him he did right, or otherwise compliment him," says one of his visitors, "his spirits go way up. He says he has had no mail from anyone criticizing him. Maybe they only give him the complimentary mail, I don't know."

"Class" is an important word to Ruby.

A source close to the prosecution says:

"Ruby is a class-conscious nobody who saw an opportunity to do something that would put him in the public eye and even make him a hero. He wasn't insane. He was rational. But he figured wrong. He's not a hero; he's a heel. Because of fouling up history."

The defense seems to agree too. Indications are it will try to show that Ruby's preoccupation with class not only was irrational but at certain times bordered on insanity.

Large Family

Ruby was the sixth of nine children born to Joseph Rubenstein, a carpenter from Sokolow, Poland, and his wife, Fannie. He was born March 25, 1911, in a flat on Johnson Street, now Peoria Street, in an area of Chicago known as the Maxwell Street ghetto.

They called the youngster Jake.

In the Smith Elementary School yard, young Jake learned the toughening games of buck-buck and run-sheep-run and kick-the-can. He also learned to fight the Italians who came down from Taylor Street in Little Sicily.

The ghetto kids were shunted onto the street and stayed there until it got too dark or too cold. But one place the Rubenstein

Lee Oswald
Cause Of It All

children always found a warm welcome was the Holy Family school.

By the time Jake entered the Shepard school, he apparently was a hellion. "Sparkplug" became Sparky, a name that has remained with him, specially among his Chicago friends.

But Earl and another sister, Marian, called Mary by her brothers, agree there was a lot good that could be said for the old days.

"Listen, everybody was the same, everybody spoke the same language," Earl says. "When we lived on the West Side, away from Maxwell Street it was a place with compensations. There were wonderful places to eat. I think it was near the Gold Theater there was Fluky's where they had nickel hot dogs with everything on them—everything."

The family was having troubles that the younger kids couldn't understand. Joseph and Fannie separated in 1923. Sparky, Earl, Sam and baby sister Eileen were placed in foster homes.

Ruby reached confirmation age, 13, while in a foster home. But he never had a bar mitzvah, the traditionally vital event in Jewish life.

Being 13 also meant a boy got his first long pants, and he could go into Davey Miller's, a popular poolroom hangout on Roosevelt Road.

The elder Rubensteins reconciled in 1925 and moved into a new flat on the West Side.

First Turkey

Sparky and the others had their first Thanksgiving turkey in this flat, sister Marian says, "and ma also learned how to make chop suey with kosher food because we told her how delicious it was."

A scrapper was admired, so it was no surprise that Sparky's first hero should be Barney Ross, later world welterweight and lightweight champion.

"When I was in the amateurs, Sparky was with me. He'd come around to carry my bags and go in free at the club fights," says Ross. "He was with me the night I won the Golden Gloves in '29. I've been his friend ever since."

Sparky had little knack for schooling. He dropped out of Roosevelt High School after six months. He was then 16.

The depression brought political zealots of all hues into the ghetto, but if the Rubensteins paid any attention it escaped notice.

Hustling Money

"We were too busy hustling for every cent we could. We'd do everything. Scalp tickets at Wrigley Field and at Comiskey Park and at Soldier Field. At the football games we'd ask people if we could watch their cars. The idea was that if they didn't tell you okay, they could expect the air out of their tires."

Eva Grant, married and divorced, set up a home for her young son, brother Sparky, friend Benny and another young man from Chicago on Jones Street, in the San Francisco tenderloin.

Easy women were all right, but Ruby, it is said, sought something else in a woman. He found it in a girl bearing the name of a revered theater family.

High Class Girl

"She was a very high class, refined girl," Ruby told one of his visitors recently. "But her mother couldn't see me. She broke it up."

Ruby left San Francisco in 937 to join an old friend, Leon R. Cooke, in a plan to organize junkyard workers in Chicago.

With Cooke, Ruby impressed some people as being a caricature of a movie bodyguard.

Cooke was killed in December 1939 and according to an attorney who was very close to the situation, "It didn't seem like there was any room for Sparky any more. One thing I'm sure of though is that he never was on the payroll of the Waste Material Handlers Union."

The union was expelled from the AFL-CIO during a corruption purge in 1957.

Ruby worked around Chicago "concessioning sporting events and concerts and things like that," as he puts it. Others translate this to mean he sold souvenirs, programs, etc., until he was drafted.

Mechanic Training

He received training as an Army Air Corps mechanic at Republic Aviation Corp.'s factory-training course at Farmingdale, N.Y. He emerged with a rating of "very satisfactory."

He saw service at five camps —Keesler Field, Miss., Seymour Johnson Field, S.C. (where he qualified as a sharpshooter with a carbine), Bluementhal Field, N.C., Chatham Field, Ga., and Drew Field, Fla. Mustered out in 1946, he went to Dallas a year later at the suggestion of Eva Grant, who had moved there earlier.

They opened a night club called the Silver Spur on South Ervay Street. It subsequently was succeeded by a place called the Club Vegas. Backed in part by a friend, he opened the Carousel, a brassy strip-tease joint in downtown Dallas.

Changes Name

Ruby, who changed his name legally from Jake Rubenstein to Jack Leon Ruby in 1948, soon had a reputation in Dallas as a guy who wanted class.

"He wanted to be liked, and he was," says Joe Cavagnaero, a hotel executive. "He'd do anything for you if he liked you. He could be in the hole to somone but he'd still loan you money if you needed it."

His idea of the ultimate in class was a man who would dedicate his life to something, despite its heartaches and aggravation.

"That Kennedy, what does he need such headaches for?" he would ask. "He's got everything, a nice wife and kids and millions of bucks. Millions. What does he need with those Cubans or those nuts who are against him? Who needs it?"

It was the search for class that drew him to a soft-voiced, gentle woman who is now secretary to an insurance company executive.

"We went together most in 1955 and 1956," she says "I was divorced then and my former husband has since passed away. Mr. Ruby and I talked often about marriage but we never became formally engaged. We began to drift apart and stopped seeing one another in 1959.

Gentleman

"He certainly was a gentleman to me. He was kind and considerate. Anything I would say about him would be nice. It was such a shock to me when he shot Oswald."

But for all his gentlemanly behavior, he still was a fast man with his fists. He broke his hand in 1958 hitting an obstreperous patron.

Despite his readiness to scrap, Ruby stayed clear of serious trouble. There is no police record on him in Chicago or San Francisco. The only marks against him in Dallas are for after-hour sales of beer.

As a rule, he left his $125 a month apartment at 223 S. Ewing each day for a workout at the YMCA. He shared the apartment with George Senator, who describes himself as a wholesaler of postcards and an occasional ticket-taker at the Carousel.

Recently a visitor asked about his ambition in life. Ruby thought about it a while.

Then he said: "A success."

U2 Pilots Losing Glamour

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The once-mysterious U2, a winged Mata Hari originally built to vault cameras across the Iron Curtain, is fast becoming a drab workhorse of near-space research.

Their "sky spy" function now largely taken over by Samos and Discoverer satellites, U2 pilots now spend many of their long, monotonous hours in the air on vital but unglamorous missions like these:

1. Laying eggs. From altitudes in excess of 60,000 feet, U2s drop 300-pound capsules which simulate the film-containing nose cones kicked away from reconnaissance satellites. Discoverer and Samos capsules are recovered over the Pacific. U2 capsules are dropped over land, and cargo planes from this desert base practice snagging them as they parachute to earth.

Trackers

2. Missile tracking. For the past three years U2s equipped with infrared (heat) measuring devices—they look like small pickle barrels mounted behind the pilot's cockpit—have monitored missile launches from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. This study is aimed at improving Midas satellites' ability to detect missile launchings and warn U.S. defense forces.

3. Double-checking the X15. On many of its high-speed flights, the U.S. space agency rocket plane carries an Air Force camera package. Pictures taken from the X15 are distorted by air friction heat which sometimes builds up to 1200 degrees Fahrenheit on the X15's skin. These are compared with undistorted photos of the same area taken at much lower speeds and altitudes from a U2.

Weathermen

4. Hunting storms. With its unique ability to loiter for hours at heights reportedly up to 17 mile, the U2 not only can photograph hurricanes from vantage points unattainable by ground-based weathermen, it can watch them develop over long periods—up to eight hours at a time. U2 photographs, sharper and closer, frequently are used to pin-point potential storms detected by the Tiros weather satellite.

5. High altitude research. U2 pilots don't always know the purpose of the black boxes carried on their planes, but it's a good guess some of them are instruments being developed for super U2s which could police nuclear test ban agreements.

Under the heading of high-altitude research also falls a project, calling for 500 hours of flying, to investigate a turbulence found at heights where there is supposed to be little air. U2s are measuring this turbulence to assist in the design of proposed supersonic transports which will cruise at altitudes above 60,000 feet. Flights in this study have taken U2s from Alaska to the equator.

No Spys

For the past three years—ever since the destruction of a U2 over the Soviet Union, May 1, 1960 brought an official promise they would not be used again to spy on Soviet territory —U2s have been channeled into an increasing research-and-development role.

Some still are used for military purposes: photographic reconnaissance over Cuba, Red China and other areas.

The growth of the U2 as a scientific tool is indicated, however, by the establishment of a unit here at Edwards AFB, headed by Lt. Col. Harry Andonian, which is strictly for research. The unit has numbered as many as seven planes, currently has five.

Andonian says the three U2s normally based here and two others detached to Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., fly 25 to 30 missions a month, each lasting four to eight hours.

Andonian has a maintenance crew of 20, plus four navigators and three pilots. He is looking for more.

Tough To Find

Volunteers qualified to fly in U2s are hard to find. The pilots must be graduates of a test pilot school and like the navigators, who really don't do much navigating but usually concentrate on running research instruments, they must be emotionally stable enough to endure long hours in the air and long trips away from home.

Learning to fly the U2 is hard enough. Its glider-like wings, so long they have to be supported by tip-wheels which drop away at take-off, carry much of the plane's fuel. This means the pilot must constantly be alert to pump fuel from one wing to the other in flight to maintain balance.

The really tricky part about flying the U2, however, is landing it.

"The big wings mean she can't land until she stalls," Andonian says. "The pilot has to make her stall just above the ground, and trained ground crews have to be on hand to grab the wing tips or she's likely to fall over.

"A new pilot coming into the unit has to make at least 50 practice landings before we feel he's properly checked out. We all make at least 10 landings a month just to keep in training."

The U2's 80-foot wingspread means another hazard for its occupants. Designed primarily to soar, the U2 can't land quickly, even in an emergency. Astronaut-like pressure suits have been dveloped to keep pilot and navigator alive should the cabin pressure fail.

Primary Stymies British

LONDON (AP — Ten years ago the British were prepared to agree that Americans were much like Britons except that the Americans put ice in their whisky and selected their presidents by odd political arrangements.

Iced drinks are common in London today but the old belief persists that the American political system is cumbersome and needlessly complex.

"Crazy-quilt politics", old boys sunk deep in the leather chairs of St. James' clubs are sometimes heard to snort.

British newspapers keep thrashing around for some way to explain a primary election to their readers. They use terms like "intra-party election," "preliminary test of strength" and "practice run."

The fact that a presidential contender can win a primary in a state and still lose control of it in the subsequent national convention confuses even well informed Britons.

The American political convention with its balloons, marching bands and speeches about "the man who," excites the British.

"So jolly," they say.

British political life is much grayer in tone. Attempts to inject trans-Atlantic color into British party proceedings have died a self-conscious death.

Every year more Britons acquire an understanding of American politics, however, and the desire to know increases. Various communications media, including The Associated Press with its service to British newspapers, help this process. So does the U.S. Embassy.

In March the embassy will distribute 12,000 pamphlets defining American political practices. These will go to universities, members of Parliament, government officials and political writers.

An American presidential election no longer is regarded as exclusively an American preoccupation, says a British government official. Because of the power of the United States, an American national election is important in some degree to everyone in the world.

Interested as they are, the British make a studied effort not to take sides in an American election. When they talk about leadership, they mean clearly defined guidance for the Western world geared to progressive, outward looking policies. Which American party provides that leadership is immaterial, the British insist.

Business Pulse Now Steadier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve's experts tested the three-year-old business expansion and said Tuesday its pulse is stronger and steadier than that of earlier, more spectacular postwar recoveries.

With fewer fluctuations in key sectors, this quiet boom has increased the Gross National Product at an annual rate of 3.8 per cent since mid-1960 compared to 2.3 per cent in the 1954-57 recovery period.

The Gross National Product—the total government and private output of goods and services—was computed after making allowances for inflation.

The monthly Federal Reserve Bulletin said the four key components which cause the economy to make wide swings up and down have remained on a generally rising plane during the present recovery compared to rather wide fluctuations in the 1953-57 and 1958-60 expansion periods.

These components are consumer durable goods such as automobiles and applicances, residential construction, business investment and federal government purchases.

Headhunters Ask President's Help

By CONRAD FINK

BARIO, Malaysia (AP) — A special message to President Johnson from high in the Tamabo Mountains of Borneo: Chief Penghulu wants your help.

"We have heard the United States of America is mighty and kind," the Kelabit tribal leader told this Associated Press reporter. "Tell your chief we need help."

The chief and his 3,000 people, former headhunters only recently introduced to the 20th century, are caught in the midst of an undeclared war along the Malaysian-Indonesian border.

British troops have moved into Kelabit jungle hunting grounds about 400 miles northeast of Kuching, Sarawak, to defend against terrorist bands attacking across the border from Indonesia.

The Kelabits who live on both sides of the border are afraid to go into the jungle.

"Tell your chief the Kelabit people would like to live in peace and not war," the chief said.

The chief, who never had met an American before, reckons time in days it takes to march from one point to another. He seems to think the United States is somewhere just east of Singapore.

Nevertheless, he is willing to enter into an alliance if only Chief Johnson will come to his aid. To show such an alliance would not be a one-way deal, Penghulu spent hours describing the Kelabits' past prowess at war.

U.S. military strength is fabled in the Tamabo Mountains because in the closing days of World War II an American plane parachuted rifles to the Kelabits, who launched a fierce attack on Japanese troops.

The chief is about 57 as near as anybody can guess.

The Kelabits' confusion at being involved in the war they do not understand is typical of the reaction of tribesmen throughout Sarawak and Sabah, which with Malaya and Singapore form the Malaysian Federation.

President Sukarno of Indonesia has sworn to crush Malaysia but last week told Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy he seeks a peaceful solution. Such a solution is an aim of the United States, and President Johnson, in sending Kennedy to talk with Sukarno, in effect may have anticipated Chief Penghulu's call for help.

Suez Seizure Offers Example For Panama

CAIRO (AP) — When President Gamal Abdel Nasser seized the Suez Canal and precipitated a world crisis in 1956, some nervous voices in the West wailed: the Panama Canal will be next.

These voices, largely inspired by business and maritime interests in Paris and London, contended the Egyptians could not run the Suez Canal anyway, and they sought American backing for a tough go at Nasser. The American government refused, and the ensuing British-French military invasion of the Suez turned into a political disaster.

Against this background, and now having run their canal successfully, the Egyptians are open partisans of Panama in its fight to wrest the Panama Canal from Washington's control.

"Nationalism has at last caught up with the Panamanian people and they are now ready to exercise their right of sovereignty over the canal just as the Egyptian people did in 1956. And unless the United States recognizes this and learns from the lessons of 1956, there can only be more trouble and bloodshed ahead in Panama," said the Egyptian Gazette. The comment was typical.

The histories of the Suez and Panama canals, the world's most important man-made waterways, have been intertwined since the beginning. Both were largely conceived by a French diplomat, engineer and dreamer, Ferdinand de Lesseps.

De Lesseps was gloriously successful in Egypt. The 10-year contruction project was celebrated in November 1869 by a gala opening of the Suez Canal, with the French Empress Eugenie taking the first official 104-mile ride through the "world's richest ditch" linking the Mediterranean with the Red Sea and Indian Ocean. The celebrations went on and on to a climax at the premiere of the especially commissioned Giuseppe Verdi opera "Aida" at the newly built Cairo Opera House.

De Lesseps' Panama venture was inglorious. He headed the French company attempting the first Panama Canal. By 1888 the effort collapsed and De Lesseps was even condemned for misappropriating money, though he never went to prison.

In Panama, the French engineer encountered problems wholly different from those of the sea-level Suez Canal — for one the necessity of cutting through mountains and hoisting ships across a continental divide through locks. Panama's endemic yellow fever also had to be overcome—as it was later by the Americans and the breed of Latin-American politician to be dealt with differed from the Egyptian types.

It is worth an historical footnote that if De Lesseps had succeeded in Panama the present issue of sovereignty possibly would not have arisen. The United States concedes "titular sovereignty" to Panama in the Canal Zone but claims control rights in perpetuity under the 1903 canal treaty. Unlike the old Suez part between a private company and a government, the Panama issue is between government and government.

Terse Tax Chief Gets To Point

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The form letter from one Mortimer M. Caplin is terse, polite and to the point. Ears burning, the taxpayer reads:

"In accordance with the provisions of existing internal revenue laws, notice is given that the determination of your income tax liability for the above-noted taxable year(s) discloses a deficiency (or deficiencies) in the amount(s) shown above."

The commissioner of internal revenue helpfully has included with his letter "the computation of the deficiency or deficiencies."

"No sir!" the taxpayer cries. "That trip to Capri with my wife and children certainly WAS a legitimate business expense. They can't do this to me!"

This reaction has been anticipated.

Caplin writes: "The deficiency or deficiencies will be assessed for collection, as required by law, upon the expiration of 90 days from the date of this letter, unless within that time you contest this determination in the Tax Court of the United States by filing a petition with that court."

Brazil, Critical Hotbed

By EDGAR MILLER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) Amid talk of revolution and coup d'etat, Latin America's largest country is tottering once again on the brink of deep political and economic crisis.

Widespread strikes, rampant inflation, unrest in the armed forces and mounting leftist pressure on President João Goulart's government underline the troubles.

Although many observers feel Goulart will be able to ride out the latest wave of crisis, rumors of an attempt to topple his government are generally a harbinger of increased political turmoil.

More political trouble looms with the expected signing this month of a controversial decree authorizing the government to expropriate up to 5.25 miles of land on either side of federal highways and railroads. The measure is designed to get the government's long-planned agrarian reform program launched.

Goulart is reported considering a major revamping of his Cabinet to give it a more leftist slant.

A leftist campaign is under way to have Brizola, a former governer of Rio Grande do Sul, named finance minister.

Old South Flavor Enhances Design

The economical one and a half-story home, long associated with colonial New England architecture, is presented today in a charming Old South facade — complete with soaring balcony over the front foyer.

The ceiling at the main entrance is a full two-story height, with a dramatic chandelier suspended over the curved staircase and flagstone foyer.

Actually the half-story above the main level doesn't have to be completed when the house is built. When it finally is finished, it will provide 544 square feet of built-in expansion room — enough for two huge bedrooms, a full bath, and an enormous amount of closet space.

The completed house then will become a four - bedroom home with both both sleeping and daily living area sufficient for a large family. Meanwhile, the newlywed couple will have a two-bedroom home with growing room to spare. In short, it's a house that will expand right along with the family.

The main level contains 1,157 square feet and includes a spacious living room with a colonial fireplace, a ten feet by 11 inch dining room which opens onto a dining porch, a combination family room-kitchen for family gatherings, two well sized bedrooms and a full bath.

A key feature of the house is the nicely integrated outdoor living area, surely to be appreciated when warm weather comes. The connected porches adjoining both the family room and the dining room are covered, and could easily be screened for all-weather enjoyment.

There is a full basement, with a steel exterior entrance in the rear to help control traffic.

Traffic circulation, in fact, was a major consideration of architect Rudolph A. Matern, who designed the home for the House of the Week series. He managed to assure unobstrusive traffic flow throughout the house with a minimum of space devoted to hallways.

SOUTHERN CHARM: This one and one-half story home has two bedrooms on the main level and expansion room on the second story for two more. Overall dimensions are a modest 45 foot, six inch wide by 26 foot, 5 inch deep. The architect is Rudolph A. Matern.

Additional Details

The covered portico in front is one of the charming exterior features of this home. It's a pleasant place for old-fashioned porchsitting, a delightful pastime which somehow seems to have gotten lost in today's rush and bustle.

The charm of the portico carries throughout the home. The elegant foyer with its dramatic high ceiling is the first example; the living room with its large windows and handsome fireplace is another.

But the house doesn't overlook the conveniences of modern moving. The kitchen, for instances, is efficiently designed to save steps and even has an oversized broom closet handy for canned goods, ironing board, vacuum cleaner and other items needed for unexpected emergencies.

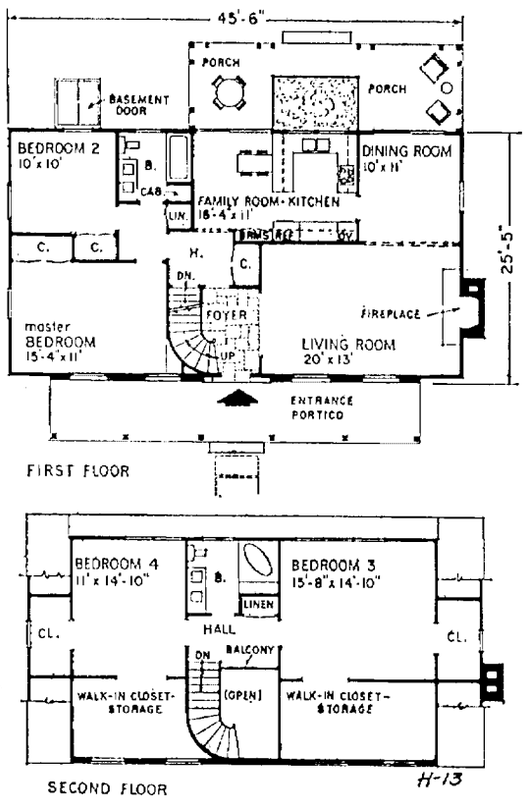
The main bathroom downstairs is equipped with a double lavatory and a medicine cabinet large enough for today's plethora of bottles and tubes every family accumulates. The cabinet, of course, is in addition to the linen closet just outside the bathroom door and convenient as well to both downstairs bedrooms.

Upstairs, both bedrooms are large enough for twin beds, at least, and are equipped with an abundance of walk-in closet and storage space. The upstairs bathroom also has a double-vanity, and there is a huge linen closet in the hall.

The exterior of the house features white brick veneer in the front and wide wood siding on the other three sides. Six stately columns grace the front portico and handsome treatment of the windows and front door give the home the appearance of an elegant Southeran masion.

H-13 Statistics

A one and a half-story traditional design with two bedrooms and a full bath on the main level, plus living room, dining room and family room - kitchen; and two additional bedrooms and a full bath on the second story. The lower level contains 1,157 square feet of living area; the upstairs contains 544 square feet. Overall dimensions are 45 feet six inches wide by 25 feet five inches deep. House contains a full basement.



FLOOR PLANS: The second story of this home doesn't need to be completed when the house is built, but when finished will add 544 square feet of built-in living ara. Over-all dimensions are only 45 feet, six inches wide by 25 feet, five inches deep.

Here's the Answer

By Ady Lang

QUESTION: Please give me some advice on putting down a flagstone terrace. I don't want to use the small or ordinary-size flagstones, but the very large ones I saw on an estate I visited recently.

Besides being huge, the flagstones came in may different colors. Can they be purchased this way or must they be colored or painted after being installed?

ANSWER: The large flagstones can be purchased in colors. They come in squares and rectangles. In using regular flagstones, you can improvise as you go along, because the stones are light and easy to handle. But if you are doing a terrace with the large flagstones, it is better to use scaled pieces of cardboard to make a layout of how the stones will fit in place.

If you don't do this you'll find (1) that you'll do a lot of unnecessary lifting and (2) the pieces won't fit together as you thought they would. Make the pattern with cardboard, numbering each piece as you go along. When you have everything properly in place, number the stones accordingly and begin the actual work.

The stones, by the way, should be placed on a two-inch bed of sand. Where there is poor drainage, the sand should first be spread on a layer of gravel or cinders. Be sure everything is packed down firmly before putting down the stones. After each stone is laid, stand on it and see whether there is any movement. If there is, the sand should be repacked to provide a level base.

Water Supply Is Important In The Home

For most of us, the purchase of a house represents the largest single investment of a lifetime. For this reason, it makes good sense to protect that investment in every possible way.

The importance of an adequate water supply under sufficient pressure should be kept in mind when planning to build or modernize a house, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

Water is not only a key to comfortable, gracious living in the home, but it is also a major factor in providing fire protection.

Fire insurance underwriters know the value of a few gallons of water directed at a fire that has just started. It is far more effective than hundreds of gallons after a fire has gotten out of control.

The installation of an ordinary faucet in a centrally located closet is one economical method of obtaining added protection against fire. The faucet should have hose threads so that an ordinary garden hose can be attached to it. Have your plumbing contractor install it out of the reach of children.

Population Explosion Chief Threat To Children

STROUDSBURG — "The population explosion poses a more terrifying threat to our children and grandchildren than any other human factor. It is more important than atomic fission, and must be solved if we are to permit the younger generations to have a chance to solve the problems of their day decently."

That was the challenge which Dr. Joseph Van Vleck presented to members of the Monroe County Planned Parenthood Assn. and their guests at the luncheon meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday. Dr. Van Vleck, who has worked with the rehabilitation program of the United Nations and who is on the board of directors of the Planned Parenthood Assn. of the Western Hemisphere, has experienced both the magnitude of the problem and the attempted solutions in nations around the world.

"Terrifying Problems"

He attended the conference in New Delhi in 1963 where representatives of 18 Asiatic nations met to study the problem which he termed "terrifying" in both mathematical and human terms. Mathematics he cited:

At the time of Jesus the population of the world was roughly a quarter of a billion people. It took 1600 years for that population to double. From 1600 to 1850, a period of 250 years it doubled again, and in the next 80 years doubled to 2 billion.

At the present rate, the world's population is doubling every 35 years, he said. In the past high death rates and birth rates kept the population relatively stable. Modern health methods have cut down the death rate while the birth rate has continued to rise, he said, citing Guatamala where the birth rate is 50 per 1000, the death rate, 20 per thousand, meaning that the population of that country will double in 22 years.

What this means in national terms to what he called "the dramatic revolution of rising expectations" which is taking place around the world, he pinpointed in what is happening in Ghana, which he said now has the best democratic setup in Western Africa.

"In Ghana, 50 per cent of the population is under 15 years of age; their rate of illiteracy is 90 per cent. In our own country we are having to face up to the fact that where we had 10 million high school students in 1960 we will have 15 million by 1970. We are beginning to realize what that is going to mean in terms of bricks and morter, in teacher training, just to hold our education steady.

"In Ghana, how can they hope to build the schools necessary to even begin to cut down the illiteracy rate?," he asked.

Warnings

"The rapidly decreasing living space, the increasing pollution of streams and air, evident even here, are warnings that either we solve the problem of rising birth rates or the death rate will go up," he warned.

"Those who claim that God will solve the population problems forget that he gave us the intelligence and the hearts to care for other people so that we must help solve our own problems," he said.

Governments around the world are concerned, he said, and are trying to stabilize their populations. He cited India where a 13-year program of birth control and now of 8,000 clinics in operation.

Japan has an outstanding record of accomplishment where faced with the fact that they can no longer transport their excess population to take over other islands, have reduced the birth rate from 35 per cent to 17, he said. The People's Republic of Red China with its teeming birth rate is being forced into aggressive expansion.

Ireland has been doing pretty well, he said, by postponing marriage.

Belongs To All

"This is not a Protestant, Jewish or Catholic problem," he said, "just as it is not a national problem: It belongs to us all and affects us all.

Among Catholics, Protestants, Jews, Buddhist, Hindus and Moslems, there is agreement, he said.

"There is agreement between all groups of people on the problem itself and its effect on humanity.

"There is agreement that people must be taught that they have a responsibility for bringing children into the world.

"Where there is risagreement is in the method of controlling population, whether by those with theological graining or by medical training," he added.

In the United States, there must be some way of introducing to young people the concept that they must become responsible parents who plan their families, he urged.

"This is not just important economically but is profoundly important in human terms," he said where the strains of a new baby every year lead to tension, cruelty and neglect in families.

"The 200 clinics across the nation, such as yours, maintained by the Planned Parenthood Assn., can't touch the surface of the need," he said. "They are at best pilot operation. While better than nothing, they can only be really effective when they can work through public services already established; the hospitals, Visiting Nurses, Family Service and other health agencies."

Dr. Van Vleck also stressed the importance of research now being done of the association. The rhythm method f birth control, approved by the Catholics, and other methods of controception require a great deal of self-discipline on the part of people using them, he said. Pills are more simple but also more expensive, and could hardly be distributed to the 450 million in India.

New Development

He cited a new and hopeful development in a contraception, which can be inserted by trained teams of workers and have been effective in 95% of the cases tested. It posseses the virtue of simplicity and requires nothing of the patient. When parents decide they want another child, it can be removed.

"This, or something like it, holds out great hopes for all nations," he said in urging that more funds be devoted to this research.

Mrs. Jesse Flory presided at the meeting. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Elton Dening.

The annual report of the local Planned Parenthood Clinic was given by Mrs. Chester Miller:

The clinic is held at the General Hospital of Monroe County on each Tuesday from 12:30 to 2 p.m. Instructions are given in the use of contraceptive, the rhythm method, or the pill or method best suited to the needs and religious faith of the patient.

The fees are based on the salaries of the family and the number of children they now have.

The clinic also works with patients with problems of infertility and marriage counseling and conducts a marriage round table each spring for young couples contemplating marriage.

In 1963, the clinic served 332 patients. 14 volunteers assist at the clinic with Dr. Mary Hunsicker as clinic physician, and Dr. Sherwood Samet as substitute.

Local State Police Head Will Be Transferred

HAZLETON—Sgt. Joseph DePietro, non-commissioned officer in charge of the State Police substation in Stroudsburg, will be transferred to the Bureau of Staff Inspection in Harrisburg on Wednesday, Feb. 5. Lt. Edward J. Switaj, acting commanding officer of Troop A in Hazleton, said last night.

DePietro is one of five state policemen selected for the regimental inspecting team which will inspect all State Police installations in the commonwealth. Headquarters for the team will be State Police regimental headquarters in Harrisburg.

DePietro entered the State Police in 1936 and has served at substations in Stroudsburg, Mt. Pocono, Lehighton, Bloomsburg, Towanda, and at Troop A headquarters in Hazleton.

He returned to Stroudsburg, as non-commissioned officer in charge of the barracks, Nov. 30, 1961.

Lt. Switaj did not disclose the officer who will replace DePietro.

Other officers named by the voluntary mental health group: Henry Graff, Bradford, vice president; Mrs. William R. Bishop Jr., Reading, secretary; Mrs. Donald C. Rubel, Philadelphia, treasurer; Mrs. Mortimer B. Fuller Jr., Dalton, vice president, northeast region; Charles F. Ferguson, Harrisburg, central region; Mrs. Robert E. Dingman, Indiana, southwest region, and the Rev. Robert E. Grimm, Erie, northwest region.

S-burg Rotary Seeks Fellowship Bids

STROUDSBURG — J. Albert Groner, chairman of the Stroudsburg Rotary Foundation Fellowship committee, yesterday invited recommendations from the public of individuals interested in a foreign study scholarship.

The fellowship for a nine-months study abroad covers the cost of travel, tuition, and all but personal expenses.

One student from the Northeastern Pennsylvania Rotary district will win the fellowship. Stroudsburg is one of 30 clubs competing with two nominations each. There are also 10 additional fellowships for male or female students of any age awarded across the nation.

The regular fellowship awarded in this district has the following qualifications:

1. A candidate must be male, between 20 and 29, and single.
2. Must have a good personality and be able to speak in public.

Why should YOU buy a Studebaker?

Studebaker is a unique automobile, unique among the many motor cars being sold in the U.S. and Canadian markets. Studebaker is unique in its reputation for durability . . . unique in its convenient size and wheelbase—no longer a compact in appearance . . . unique in engineering advancements . . . and now unique in its new concept of enduring styling.

Studebaker automobiles are no longer "stubby"—they have been restyled from bumper to bumper for the 1964 model year with clean, distinctive, modern lines which have earned high praise from the experts of the motoring press throughout the world. This styling will continue to be identified with Studebaker models in the future and we believe it will wear well with our owners—like the rest of the Studebaker automobile.

Studebaker is a SAFE, SOLID automobile investment. It spells security for its passengers with more built-in safety factors than any other car on the North American market. In addition, it is a safe car from the standpoint of investment. It has a built-in freedom from mechanical faults. Tomorrow, it will have built-in resale value, insured by the continuity of our new styling theme.

Studebaker is in the U.S. and the Canadian marketplace to STAY. Studebaker is manufactured today on a basis fully compatible with the selective nature of its market. Some details of our forward thinking and forward planning at Studebaker are set forth here:

A NEW CONCEPT

The past 40 days have been exciting ones at Studebaker. Our production for the world auto market has been centralized at Hamilton, Ontario. One of our first decisions was to break away from the wasteful practice of the rest of the industry, that of imposing yearly styling changes on car owners. Studebaker, from here on, will make continuing mechanical changes in its cars. We will not wait 'till the end of a fixed "model year" to offer improvements to our owners. To you, the Studebaker driver, this means a top-quality, trouble-free car with built-in resale value. We certainly have no aim to build the lowest priced car on this continent. We are now building—we will continue to build—the best car in the low-priced field.

OBJECT: PRACTICABILITY

We now have a single objective in design and manufacturing: to build the most durable, useful and practical automobile on the market. Studebaker aims to provide the ideal car for Canadian motorists. More than ever, Studebaker will be an ideal car for U.S. motorists who seek to combine maximum thrift with maximum function. Our reputation in those two fields has always been outstanding. We will strive to improve it—this year, next year, every year.

WHAT OTHER COMPANY OFFERS AS MUCH?

Studebaker feels it now offers an ideal car for the heavy duty use that practical motorists want from a car. We now offer heavy duty safety-frame construction. Our body metal is of thicker gauge. We have a body coating process that really stops rust before it starts. Our windshield wipers sweep the entire vision field of both driver and passenger. We alone offer super-safety disc brakes as an option on every car in our line. Our 15 inch wheels offer maximum road clearance, fuel economy, road stability and tire life. Our Twin Traction differential moves power from slipping wheel to gripping wheel in deepest mud or snow. Our cars are the only ones with fully padded instrument panels in ALL models—even the lowest priced. We alone in the North American industry provide a full dash panel of readable instruments without a single blinking "idiot light". We alone have a dash panel clean and free of dangerous switch levers, as still another safety bonus. Our cars have the most head room, flattest floors, greatest interior room, wheelbase considered, of any vehicles in the industry. Our variety of engines, transmissions and rear axle options let you custom build your own power train of your Studebaker for maximum economy, speed, pulling power or acceleration, or an ideal blend of all four. Wide options in paint, body styles and interior trim allow custom ordering for appearance.

WHAT THE EXPERTS THINK

This month, Studebaker was named "Car of the Year" by Canada's Track and Traffic Magazine. They gave us their coveted Golden Wheel Award for the second time in three years. We are holders of an earlier "Car of the Year" award by Car Life Magazine. We were recently named "Recreation Car of the Year" by recreation directors of the United States. Our cars have been singled out for warm praise by every leading U.S. and Canadian auto magazine this year because of the scores of features which are exclusively ours.

WHY MANUFACTURE IN CANADA?

Studebaker has always been a relatively small volume builder of very high quality automobiles. Following our new formula for success, Studebaker will not attempt to out-advertise, out-produce and out-sell the giants in today's enormously competitive U.S. auto industry. From a smaller, more efficient base in Canada, however, Studebaker can continue to build the kind of quality of which we are proud. We can build with a profit in limited volume and continue to sell these quality vehicles to the discriminating motorists who have preferred our kind of quality over the years—both in Canada and the U.S. Our Hamilton plant is perfectly matched to this immediate sales potential of Studebaker.

WHERE ARE WE GOING

We will expand and develop the capacity of our Canadian plant to meet the combined demands of the Canadian, U.S. and world market for our automobiles. The first stage of our plant expansion program at Hamilton is nearly completed. We can build more than 30,000 cars a year in this factory.

Studebaker buyers CAN BE SURE that as demand rises in the marketplace for our cars, Studebaker will be prepared to fill that demand. There may be some short waiting periods for delivery. But a fine product is well worth waiting for.

We want you to know that ample supplies of Studebaker parts and arrangements for the finest kind of Studebaker service will continue in the best Studebaker tradition.

Canadian-build products have already established a strong reputation for quality and durability. Already, the quality of our Canadian-built Studebakers is being noted in our showrooms as a bonus for U.S. buyers.

We agree, Studebaker may not be the ideal car for every buyer—either in the U.S. or Canada. But it is a product for the discriminating buyer who demands quality, durability and smartness over all other things.

Don't take our word for this. Ask any person now driving a Studebaker product. Ask the man who services Studebaker automobiles. I think they will agree with me that a Studebaker will reward you with value, performance, thrift and dependability—this year, next year and into the future.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

For a while it looked as if the population explosion Dr. Joseph Van Vleck was talking about had hit the Treaty Room of the Penn-Stroud Hotel. There was such a unanimous acceptance of invitations from the Planned Parenthood Assn. that the guests had to be fitted in practically with a shoe horn.

Incidentally, Dr. Van Vleck, father of six and grandfather of six more, denies that he contributed to the present population explosion. His own children were born back in the depths of the depression when the birth rate in America was at its lowest in history.

I wonder how many of the Senior Woman's Club remember that it must have been about that time that they, as Junior Women, had a panel on the dangers of the declining middle class in America? Dr. Elwood Heiss was a member, I remember, pointing out that the 1½ babies that professional and white collar workers were having weren't even enough to replace the parents. And John Cartwright was forecasting empty elementary schools as the present generation moved on into high school.

As prophets maybe they weren't so hot, but as speakers they sure stimulated a pretty warm discussion.

Dr. Van Vleck did a little prophecying on his own. As a long-time resident of Montclair, N.J., he has seen it grow from a peaceful sort of village to its present status, crammed with the urban overflow from Newark, and part of the vast meglopolis which he said might some day reach its solid-concrete tentacles as far as the Poconos.

So in addition to family planning, maybe we'd better look into community planning. Make that "you'd better." I'd better look into menu planning with my family beginning to converge on the Poconos: From Yugoslavia, from New York, from Philadelphia, all funneling through here on their way to my niece's wedding in Oberlin next week. Now with two burners, a broiler and an electric fry-pan — I've got a population explosion all my own — but the joyous kind.

Dames Of Malta

St. Ann's Altar, Rosary Sets Up Year's Schedule

Canadensis — Members of St. Ann's Altar and Rosary Society set the year's agenda of events at the recent meeting in the church. Committee chairmen were appointed by Mrs. Norbert Ryan, president.

Reports were given on the adults' and children's Christmas parties. Mrs. Harry Campbell noted that the children's party was a success in spite of chicken pox and measles that cut down the number of children in attendance.

Mrs. Ryan agreed that the adult's party was a succes. She also pointed out that the talent show given by the children at their party was well received.

In new business, volunteers took committed responsibility. Mrs. Joseph Gillespie is hospitality chairman; Mrs. Alfred Szczech, publicity; Mrs. Harold Kreck, membership; Mrs. Lester Caulfield, library; Mrs. Ryan, altar care; Mrs. Milo Megargel, altar linen and Mrs. Edwin Caprioli, the "Pilgrim Virgin."

Dues notices will be sent prior to Feb. 1, for the new year, it was announced, and Mrs. Ryan reminded all members to be prompt in payment.

Projects for the year are, Feb., card party; March, Easter Egg Hunt; April, Deanery Convention; May, Women's Communion breakfast; June, card party and fashion show; July, Bazaar; August, bake sale; September, bazaar; October, Children's Halloween party; and Children's first Communion breakfast; December, children's and adult's Christmas parties.

The February card party will be held at Pocono Catholic Missions School with Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. Charles Villa, Mrs. Joseph Hardy and Mrs. Philip Pasquini in charge of arrangments. It will be held prior to Lent, with the date to be announced.

The Monroe-Pike Deanery Convention set for April 11 will be held at the Pocono Catholic Missions School. Representing the sodality will be Mrs. John Rush, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Villa, Mrs. T. Sonnet, Mrs. Szczech, Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. William Van Why, Mrs. Kreck and Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Ryan will be registration chairman for the convention. Mrs. Allen Shellenberger will represent Mrs. Ryan on the welcoming committee, which is composed of the presidents of the member societies in the deanery.

Altar care for February will be done by Mrs. Van Why and Mrs. Sonnet, with Mrs. Kreck and Mrs. Campbell in charge of altar care during March.

Deanery chairman for the year were named, Mrs. Kreck is chairman of organization and development; Mrs. Caulfield, CCD and parent organization; Mrs. Gillespie, Catholic charities; Mrs. Szczech, publicity; Mrs. Caprioli, spiritual development and Mrs. Joseph A. Bender, Jr., youth.

Following the business session, Rev. William Cusick gave a short talk. He said that the prayer intention for February is church unity.

Accident Victim Would Like Letters

Philadelphia—These are glum days for Edward Miller who was injured in an accident in August and hospitalized at the General Hospital of Monroe County until Nov. 5 when he was moved to Magee Memorial Hospital, 1513 Race St., Philadelphia.

Still paralyzed from the waist down, he expects to remain in the hospital there for 6 to 8 months. His stay will seem even longer since his wife and daughter were injured in a later accident while they were bringing him home to Phillipsburg, N. J. on a visit and are unable to visit him at the hospital.

A former employe of Pocono Industries, he would like to hear from his local friends and co-workers.

Clinics To Help Smokers Stop Being Considered

East Stroudsburg—The possibilities of setting up local clinics to help people who want to stop smoking will be explored by the Monroe County Cancer Society, it was decided at their meeting on Wednesday night at the General Hospital. Mrs. Clement Cleveland and Dr. M. J. Leitner were named to look into how similar clinics are organized in other communities.

Dr. James Fahl, president, presided at the meeting. He announced that a cryostat, an appliance used for early detection of cancer, has been ordered for the use in the hospital with the Cancer Society paying a part of the expenses.

Mrs. William Hoffman, executive secretary, announced that four films had been shown at the college and to the health nurses since the December meeting. Two new patients have been added to the caseload and 50 pieces of literature have been given out.

Miss Dorothy Bergdorf, service chairman, announced that 320 dozen cancer dressing had been distributed during the month and 553 dozen dressings had been turned in.

Mrs. Roman Batory, chairman of the Cancer Crusade, outlined plans for the crusade which will be held in April. She will attend a meeting on public relations in Lebanon, Feb. 6 and 7. John Lambert, vice chairman of the crusade, and Mrs. Hoffman will attend a meeting on the crusade in Wilkes-Barre.

World Day Of Prayer Set For Feb. 14 At ES Church

Stroudsburg—The World Day of Prayer community service will be held Friday, Feb. 14 at 2 p. m. at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, it was announced at the meeting of the board of managers of the sponsors, The United Council of Church Women.

The board meeting was held at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church with Mrs. Neal D. Coberly, new president, leading the opening devotions and introducing other new officers and council chairmen.

Theme of the World Day of Prayer Service will be "Let Us Pray." Mrs. Louis Johnson, chairman of World Missions, has called a meeting of one representative from each of the member churches to be held Feb. 3 at 2 p. m. at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Mrs. Arthur Ifft, chairman of Christian Social relations, submitted several suggestions for the May Day Fellowship dinner which were discussed. Further details will be announced at the next board meeting.

Garden Club Program On Its Hobbies

Tannersville — "Hobbies" will be the theme of the meeting of the Pocono Garden Club on Tuesday, Feb. 11, at the Tannersville firehouse. Mrs. Emile Husted will show her films on Bermuda.

Members ars asked to prepare exhibits of any item pertaining to their hobby in what ever area of arts and crafts they are interested as well as arrangements of plant material featuring stones and shells.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Leon Parcell, chairman; Miss Grace Dreher, Mrs. Minnie Dalyrymple, Mrs. Roy Schreck, Mrs. Roy Heller and Mrs. Samuel Dunbar.

Staff Nurses

East Stroudsburg — A meeting of both full and part-time staff nurses at the General Hospital will be held from 2:30 to 3:30 on Wednesday in the hospital dining room.

Let's talk Fashion

It's fun to buy a very special dress for a special occasion. It's more than a little gay to be the first kid on your block with a new Spring hat. And sometimes it's worth the money just for the lift in morale. But you don't build up a good-forever, right-for-anything wardrobe that way.

The way some of our best dressed women do that is by judiciously stocking up at our famous clearance sales when they can buy the best at the lowest prices. And that's what they have been doing, too. But we still have some pretty special specials for you:

Featherweight wool dresses, wonderful buys in bulky sweaters that are cuddly as a kitten, and even our Bardley coats to replace that threadbare number which just might get through the rest of the winter but will never make it through next.

You might pass on a tip to your Valentine; that we've got wonderful bargains in handsome pocketbooks and lingerie, that will make you feel pampered and expensive, and make him feel very economical.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Everyone at SEVENTEEN magazine is either very young or very young in spirit, and it is wonderful. You might suppose that to anyone frankly fortyish-flirting-with-fifty, it would be depressing, and that one would feel as ancient as Methusaleh. But nothing of the sort. From the moment the elevator doors slide open to reveal a brilliant, rosy red contemporary painting mounted between dark wood pillars, the world somehow seems brighter, happier, and newer.

The reception room in which Bill Wells and I awaited Anita Blanchard, one of the magazine's many specialized editors, is warm and cheerful. Valentinish, in a way, with a rosy rug upon white floors, white furniture, and two more of those exiting paintings. The receptionist's desk has a bouquet of red and white flowers, and she herself is a stunning woman with a cordial manner who must have been a knockout when she was a teenager.

Our interview with Miss Blanchard took place in a conference room gay with orange-into-red stripes at doorways and such, a long narrow mural hinting in colorful pictures and verse at the wonders to be found in Seventeen's forthcoming April issue.

As striking as her surroundings is Anita Blanchard herself. Tall, wondrously slender and smart in a glen plaid dress of Empire inspiration, her hair was concealed beneath a towering shaggy cloche. That hat almost concealed another feature . . . perhaps her most striking: eyes, skillfully lined and shadowed. In the course of our conversation Anita revealed that at one time her dreams fluctuated between two ambitions: to be a fashion model; or to be a nurse. I am sure she would have been successful in either profession, but as a nurse she might not have been able to wear her fingernails quite so long. Her hands are magnificent and the nails are delicate peachy-pink. Why do I mention this? Because all women are curious about other women . . . particularly about successful women, and, since our radio program is not televised, I am sure both teen-agers and their mothers will be interested in the description.

Which brings up the exciting fact that WYCKOFF'S and SEVENTEEN are associated in a fascinating project that will involve about 300 fine stores across the country. We are going to help Seventeen find models, by enabling local girls, ranging in age from 13 to 19, to register here and, after preliminary events, model in a fashion show featuring styles chosen from the March issue of Seventeen magazine. A panel of judges will select the girl whom they consider best qualified to model for a fashion magazine, and her picture will be entered in the finals. From across the nation, 10 girls will be selected for a week's visit to New York in June, during which they will be photographed for the magazine's pages. One may even become a Seventeen cover girl.

But don't take my word for this. Hear for yourself a broadcast by Anita Blanchard of SEVENTEEN direct to the teen-age girls of Monroe County from 11:30 to 12 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) morning over WVPO. Tell ALL teen-age girls to listen. Their mothers too, for without a guardian's consent no teen-ager will be permitted to enter the contest.

Rader Favors Single County School District

By Jim Ottaway Jr.
Daily Record Editor

(This is the fifth in a series of special articles on the new county commissioners and their plans.)

EFFORT — The chairman of the Monroe County board of commissioners believes the schools of the county should be reorganized into a single county school district.

He stated this opinion in an interview ranging over present and future problems of Monroe County.

Although the commissioners have no direct hand in the decision, Rader nevertheless gave his support to those school districts which want a single county unit.

Some kind of reorganization is required by a law passed in the the Pennsylvania legislature last year. The five-man county school board, which must submit a reorganization plan to Harrisburg, first voted for a four district county plan.

The board later withdrew that plan and is now restudying it, pending formal statements of opinion from all county school boards.

Rader backed the position taken by the Pleasant Valley Jointure School Board which covers the West End of the county where he lives.

He argued that a county-wide uniform school tax would bring the benefits of county growth to all school districts in the county.

The Republican commissioner cited the proposed Pocono Mountains International Raceway in Tunkhonnock Township which would be assessed for several million dollars, he believes.

"Why should only one township get the benefit of such new assessments," Rader argued. "A uniform county school tax and a single county district will help all the children of the county to get a higher standard of education and a more modern program."

Building Permits

In a related area, Rader proposed that a supervisor or secretary of each township issue a $5 building permit to everyone who builds a new house or remodels or makes additions to present buildings. It would require township ordinances.

Rader said that the county, with only two deputy assessors in the field, cannot possibly find all the new building and remodeling and additions in the county.

He urged that a township building permit system would save taxpayers money by making certain that taxable improvements and construction gets on the assessment books and tax rolls.

He said contractors and home owners are required by law to report such building or improvements on forms available at the county assessor's office in Courthouse Square.

There is a $50 fine for not reporting, Rader said, but it is not being enforced.

Stroud Industry

In other areas of county business, Rader suggested an industrial park in Stroud Township which would make the flat, empty land along Brodheads Creek in the Gravel Place-Stokes Mill Rd. area available and attractive for new industry.

He pointed out that it has flat land adjacent to the Erie-Lackawanna railroad not far from Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg resident areas, but open for development.

Rader proposed that a "Big Inch" pipe bring water to the industrial park from the proposed Tocks Island Dam, seven miles up the Delaware River from Stroudsburg.

Mehl Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary of Phillips Petroleum Inc., plans to build a new plastics plant at Gravel Place this spring and has announced it will eventually employ 200 or more persons.

County Bidding

Rader promised more efficient bidding practices by the county commissioners. He said purchases for county projects had sometimes been split to avoid reaching the $1,000 maximum for county contracts which can be let without advertising for bids.

"I don't want any taxpayers money to be used for political purposes in county business," Rader said.

GOP Chairman Elections

The Republican commissioner also proposed that the GOP county chairman be elected by the voters of the county at primary elections, as the county Democratic chairman is, instead of by the county Republican committee.

"There is too much political money spent trying to buy votes for the chairmanship. It is easier to buy votes among approximately 70 county committeemen than it is to buy votes from party voters all over the county," Rader said.

It was a breakdown in the present county committee election system which led to a Republican squabble since 1962 over whether Hanford Cleveland or Parke Unangst was elected by the county committee.

Unangst was recognized by the former Democratic county commissioners. Harold B. Kresge, a compromise county chairman recognized by the Scranton administration, was recognized formally by the new board of commissioners this month.

Pre Cana Series At St. Matthew

EAST STROUDSBURG—The Pre Cana Conferences, a series of lectures on marriage, will begin at St. Matthew's Catholic Church Ash Wednesday, Feb. 12. The Pre Cana Series is sponsored by the Family Life Bureau of the Diocese of Scranton.

Throughout the Scranton Diocese at 12 convenient centers six lectures are given on the subject of marriage during Lent.

St. Matthew's Auditorium is one of the diocesan centers. Five of the lectures will be given by Rev. Father John A. Esseff, assistant pastor. A Catholic physician will give the sixth lecture. Topics such as the dignity of marriage, adjustment in marriage, morals of marriage, economics and the physical aspects of marriage will be treated.

Pope Paul VI in a recent address said "pastoral undertakings which give engaged and married couples that moral and spiritual preparation will illuminate and strengthen their conscience for the holiness of love and firmness and real happiness of family life."

The course is offered to all engaged and recently married couples. The lectures take place each Wednesday evening at 8 p. m., beginning Ash Wednesday in the school auditorium on Ridgeway St. There is no charge for the course.

Craig R. Messinger

Bangor Airman At Texas Base

LACKLAND AFB, Tex. — Airman Craig R. Messinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph I. Messinger of RD 2, Bangor, is being reassigned to Amarillo AFB, Tex., for technical training as a United States Air Force supply specialist.

Airman Messinger, who enlisted in the Air Force a short time ago, has completed his initial basic military training here.

The airman is a 1961 graduate of Bangor Area Joint High School.

NICE GUYS IN SPORTS

Paul Bartholomew of East Stroudsburg is one of the more astute observers of sports in this area. He should be. He's followed athletic activities for more years than he cares to remember.

The other night—sitting in the faculty room at East Stroudsburg High School during halftime of the Eastburg-Pen Argyl basketball game—he made this interesting observation about Dave Turtzo of the visiting Green Knights:

"He's not only a fine basketball player; he's a gentleman on the court, too."

For some reason, the statement stuck in my mind. You have to respect statements by men of the caliber of Paul Bartholomew, just as you have to respect the athletic abilities of such boys as Dave Turtzo. You listen to these men, and you watch these boys in action, and you remember even the tiniest of things. The big things become a matter of record and a matter of statistics. You can refer to them when you need them.

It's a matter of record, for instance, that Turtzo blasted the nets in two consecutive games for a total of 55 points against Palisades, and then for 41 against East Stroudsburg. These facts already are a matter of record.

What isn't in the record, however, is the boy's behavior in the sports arena. This is one of numerous items which are never reflected in boxscores, seldom mentioned in accounts of the games.

Turtzo is the only Pen Argyl player in the history of the school to reach 1,000 points for a career. He's well beyond that point now, and whatever his career total may be will become a matter of record. But his behavior on the court will never be recorded. Sports statistics do not convey attitude of players. They are nothing more than cold facts.

Too often, the "nice guys" in sports finish behind the "bad guys." Ask Leo Durocher, former manager of the ex-Brooklyn Dodgers and ex-New York Giants and now coach of the Los Angeles Dodgers. He's the author of that well-known book, "Nice Guys Finish Last."

The title of that book may have been well-named, but not if you like truth in titles. It isn't the truth. Durocher is not now on top of the sports pile. He isn't a nice guy, either.

His obvious reference in that title was to Mel Ott, one of the finest baseball players ever to don a major league uniform. But he was referring to Ott as a manager, not as a ballplayer. Ott had it all over Durocher as a player. So have a thousand others. Durocher was a member of the famed "Gashouse Gang" of the St. Louis Cardinals. But he was only a member, certainly not the sparkplug.

The point is, there are too many nice guys in sports who do not finish last. There are also some bad guys, so-called, who finish first.

For instance, Sonny Liston is not generally regarded by many—if any—as "The All-American Boy." But he is today the heavyweight champion of the world.

Liston's chief challenger, Cassius Clay, is a handsome young man with a huge ambition and an even bigger mouth. No, he's not a nice guy either, really.

I also despise Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics for attempting to turn the American League into "Checkerboard Square." This former insurance executive keeps writing the headlines in the sports pages which should read: "Have Ballclub, Will Travel."

Harry Wismer, former owner of the ex-New York Titans, was not a nice guy, either. Ask the umpteen creditors who footed his bills in the Poconos during the team's training stay here a couple years ago.

Fortunately, these misdeeds do not enter the boxscores of any sports almanac.

But I like to think of the nice guys in sports, the gentlemen of the sports arenas. And there are plenty of those, too—and plenty of them who have not finished last.

Guys like Stan Musial, Warren Spahn, Andy Robustelli, Joe DiMaggio, Lou Gehrig, Mel Ott, Willie Pep, Joe Louis, Bob Cousy, Roger Staubach. Actually, you could fill a whole column with names like these gentlemen.

I remember when several officials of East Stroudsburg State College were so elated a little more than a year ago by the behavior of both the football team and the soccer team when they traveled to distant points and received compliments—all unsolicited—by various and sundry persons who met and served these fine athletes. These boys were not only winners, they were also gentlemen.

Forget Leo Durocher's cynical attitude. Think like Paul Bartholomew, and look for a quality in sports which boxscores never reveal. Look at boys like Dave Turtzo—and forget the records.

Then go home and say: "Tonight I saw a gentleman."

Eastburg Grapplers Trimmed

PALISADES — East Stroudsburg High School's wrestling team bowed to Palisades last night, 36-20, as the Pirates picked up eight wins in the 12 bouts.

The defeat was the third in a row for the Cavalier grapplers and seventh in nine starts.

Pete Miller of East Stroudsburg with a pin over Barry Sigafoof in 55 seconds but Palisades captured the next six bouts, gaining three pins and three decisions.

Eastburg's Harold Boushell (156) and heavyweight John Kintner pinned their opponents, while Ron Spinner added a decision for the losers.

Palisades also won the JV match by the narrow margin of 22-20.

The results:

95—Pete Miller (E) pinned Barry Sigafoof, 0:55, body press.
105—Greg Krouse (P) pinned Rick Leaman, 4:45, body press.
114—Jay Leeman (P) dec. Bruce MacIntire, 5-1.
122—Paul Beer (P) dec. Ray Gallagher, 9-1.
129—Gerald Ruppert (P) pinned John Bertucci, 3:45, cradle.
133—Mark Leeman (P) pinned Terry Nauman, 1:35, half nelson.
138—Tom Free (P) dec. Randy Heller, 11-2.
145—Ron Spinner (E) dec. Duane Bouman, 9-4.
156—Harold Boushell (E) pinned Tom Cline, 2:40, body press.
167—Gil Shoenenburger (P) pinned Steve Quick, 2:30, headlock.
182—Dave Hanes (P) pinned Dave Lesoine, 1:55, headlock.
Unl.—John Kintner (E) pinned Tom Kreiger, 3:58, body press.

Seven-Game Hoop Card Features 5 Loop Tilts

STROUDSBURG — Five league battles feature a seven-game card on the scholastic basketball front in the Pocono-Slate Belt area tonight.

Stroud Union will seek its second victory in the Lehigh Valley League in a meeting at Palmerton. This will be the seventh league engagement for the mountaineers who stand at 4-7 overall.

In the Lehigh - Northampton League, East Stroudsburg is on the road for a contest against Southern Lehigh. The Cavaliers of Coach Dale Baker, 2-6 in the circuit, hold an overall mark of 5-9.

Over .500

The Slaters of Bangor, the only area team over the .500 mark with a 7-5 record, travel to Northwestern for another L-N clash. Coach Bill Pensyl's lads currently are in fourth place in the league with an all-even 4-4 slate.

In the Poemount League, activity resumes with the Royals of Pius X traveling to Brodheadsville for a tiff with the Bears of Pleasant Valley, winners of one game in eight contests. Coach Bill Frear's Bears have claimed their lone victory against Pocono Catholic Missions, another league foe. Pius X also owns a win over the Kingsmen in the three-team circuit.

Exhibition Clash

Pocono Catholic will carry a 1-10 record to Swiftwater for a game against Pocono Mountain in an exhibition clash.

The Green Knights of Pen Argyl, holders of a 7-7 record overall tangle with Salisbury in another exhibition tiff. Coach Frank Vari's Knights, led by the flashy Dave Turtzo who continues to rip the coards at a record - setting pace, currently hold down the third rung in the L-N ladder with a 5-4 record.

Rounding out the card, Wallenpaupack is on the road for a meeting with Damascus at Hawley in a Wayne County Conference battle.

Also on the local sports calendar is a wrestling match which sends Stroud Union to Whitehall. Coach Dick Merring's grapplers will seek their sixth win in nine starts in that engagement.

Lombardi Wants Hornung

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Vince Lombardi, coach-general manager of the Green Bay Packers, repeated with emphasis Thursday his determination to play Paul Hornung next season, if and when his suspended star is available.

The annual meetings of the National Football League ended with no announcement from Commissioner Pete Rozelle about the future status of Hornung and Alex Karras of Detroit who were suspended indefinitely a year ago for betting on pro football games.

Rozelle has said repeatedly there would be no decision on the two cases until late February.

"If Hornung plays, he will play for me," said Lombardi with his eyes blazing. "Once gain I will say Paul will not be traded. I cannot emphasize that too much. Such talk is ridiculous. I have positively no thought of trading him.

"Whether he will be back or not is up to the commissioner. You know as much as I do about that, but we are including Paul in our plans if we get him back.

"I do not know how much the one-year layoff will affect him. It could bother him although he came back strong after spending most of one year in the Army. His old knee injury is not of a serious nature. I do not think that will be a factor."

Lombardi was not unduly upset about the retirement of offensive tackle Forest Gregg, who will be an assistant coach at Tennessee, or the announced retirement of linebacker Bill Forrester.

Baseball Want Ad: Need More Talent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Organized baseball needs more good players, not a shakeup in its organization. Both major and minor league spokesmen agreed on this Thursday.

Otherwise, all was sweetness and light before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee as baseball bigwigs threw their weight behind a bill proposing uniform antitrust exemptions for professional baseball, football, basketball and ice hockey.

The subcommittee heard testimony from baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, General Manager George Selkirk of the Washington Senators, and minor league boss Phillip Piton.

Absent was Charles O. Finley, controversial owner of the Kansas City Athletics who has stirred a storm in the American League by his efforts to move his team to Louiville, Ky., or Oakland, Calif.

Frick said he considered Finley's actions a problem for the American League, not the commissioner. Finley has been invited to appear before the subcommittee, but so far has not indicated whether he will accept.

He won't appear this week and subcommittee chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., announced that next Tuesday's session with professional football leaders has been postponed indefinitely because the Senate will be debating the tax bill.

Hart, chief sponsor of the pending bill, said in an opening statement that Congress has an eye on the imbalance in big league baseball that results in some teams, such as Washington, being chronic losers.

"The bill is intended to see that professional sports develop in such a way as to assure the American public the greatest possible enjoyment," said Hart.

None of the baseball officials mentioned the problems of second division teams in their original statements.

Selkirk, the first witness, briefly praised the bill as letting baseball operate "along the same compatible lines it has enjoyed for well over 100 years."

"Lack Good Players"

In response to questions, Selkirk insisted it isn't American League rules that have kept the Senators in last place since they were organized three years ago. "All that keeps us down there is a lack of good ball players," he said.

He said when both leagues expanded from eight to 10 teams it added 100 ball players to major league rosters "and we haven't had time to develop the ball players to make contenders out of the new teams."

Both Selkirk and Frick said the league has been experimenting with various means of equalizing talent.

Both had praise for the first-year draft, which they said limits the activities of richer teams in paying huge bonuses to untried players by exposing all over a certain number to draft by other teams.

Selkirk said he felt that, given time, this rule would serve to make better balance in baseball.

Piton, who is president of the National Association of Baseball Leagues, said the legislation would help continue the stability he said is developing in the minor leagues after a long decline.

Lawson's Twin City Win YMCA Contests

STROUDSBURG — Lawson's routed Reinhardt, 83-47, and Twin City blasted Buck's 82-55, last night in a pair of YMCA Industrial Basketball League contests.

Tom Moyer, with 29 points, and Ralph Lomperdo, with 24, set the scoring pace for Lawsons. Frank Holland chipped in with 17. Bob Shaw was high for the losers with 21 points.

A 30-point effort by Ron Lauchner led Twin City's victory. Charlie Chronister tallied 17 and Bob Rentschler notched 14.

Frank Marinaccio hit 17 for the losers.

Schoonover 'Day' Set For March 4

STROUDSBURG — Bill Schoonover, former Stroud Union grid flash and ex-Syracuse star, will have his "day" March 4 when Stroudsburg sports fans fete the football star in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Principal speaker at the affair will be Jim Ringo, another former Syracuse grid great and all-pro center of the Green Bay Packers the past eight years.

Bill Johnson, of Stroudsburg, who is on Gov. Scranton's administrative staff, will be toastmaster.

John Whitehead, who coached Schoonover during his freshman and sophomore years, will attend the dinner. Whitehead, now head football coach at Carlisle High School, resigned last year as head coach at Middletown, N. Y.

Ben Schwartzwalder, head football coach at Syracuse University, also has been invited.

Tickets for the affair are available from Dave O'Connor and Jim Driebe.

Persons wishing to donate gifts may contact either Driebe or O'Connor.

IMBT's, Sears Score Victories

STROUDSBURG — Bob Brimer tallied 19 points to pace IMBT's to a 56-34 win over Wyckoff-Sears, and John Muller blasted the nets for 30 points to pace YMCA to a 60-50 verdict over Bixler's in the Older Boy's Basketball League Wednesday.

Sportsmen To Discuss Violations

STROUDSBURG — Indiscriminate killing of deer and other hunting violations in the western section of Monroe County will highlight the topics of the monthly meeting next Monday of the Monroe County Federation of the Sportsmen's Clubs.

The meeting will be held in the Municipal Building in Stroudsburg on the corner of 7th and Sarah Streets starting at 7:30 p.m.

The association will discuss the possibilities of enlarging the force of game protectors and deputies as one way of preventing what it calls "outrageous lawlessness."

Also on the agenda is a discussion on proper procedures of erecting fences along interstate roads in an effort to stop the heavy deer kills, car damage and injuries to motorists.

Suggestions will be solicited for a more equitable distribution of hunting licenses

Francis Godino

Grid Fete To Honor Godino

ROSETO — Francis Godino, Pius X back, will be among 24 scholastic scholar - athletes who will be honored by the Lehigh Valley Chapter, National Football Foundation.

Gust Zarnas, chapter president, noted yesterday that some tickets were still available for the Feb. 3 affair in Hotel Bethlehem.

Godino, who resides in West Bangor RD 3, performed at quarterback and halfback. Standing 5-10 and weighing 186, he capped a fine three-season performance in the role of co-captain.

He is on his way to winning letters in basketball and baseball which will make him a 10-letter man.

He has been a member of the Glee Club for two years and the choir three. He is in the upper seventh of his class.

No Medals For Americans

U.S. Fortunes Drop In Winter Olympics

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Egon Zimmermann, intrepid son of Austrian peasants, streaked to victory in the blue ribbon men's downhill ski race Thursday and U.S. fortunes sagged to a disappointing low in the ninth Winter Olympic Games.

Other gold medals went to Eero Maentyranta, an indefatigable Finn who won the 30-kilometer — 18.6 miles — ski cross country, and a muscled Russian woman, Lidia Skoblikova, who led a record-smashing 1-2-3 Soviet sweep in the women's 500-meter speed skating event.

Americans, meanwhile, continued to grab at thin air in this snow and ice spectacle, without a medal of any kind—gold, silver or bronze. They even fell behind in the first phase of the women's figure skating competition, a specialty they once dominated.

Bitter Feelings

The Yanks were unable to hide their bitter feelings, particularly in the case of those badly beaten in the men's downhill.

This was the race in which they had wrangled with the International Ski Federation over favorable starting spots for Bill Kidd of Stowe, Vt., and Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo.

But Kidd, 20, first down the precipitous, ice-slick Mount Patscherkofel run, finished 16th in 2 minutes, 21.82 seconds — 3.66 seconds behind Zimmermann's course record time of 2:18.16. Werner, 27, a veteran of 10 years on the international slopes was 17th in 2:22.05, and Chuck Ferries of Houghton, Mich., 24, another experienced competitor was even worse at 20th in 2:23.

14th Position

The best American performance was turned in by a 19-year-old student from Stockton, Calif., Annibale (Ni) Orsi, unseeded and skiing in his first Olympics, who clocked 2:21.59 for 14th position.

Immediately after the race, Kidd, Werner and Ferries baricaded themselves behind a cordon of police and refused to be interviewed. Police roughed up some newsmen who sought to get to the unhappy Americans.

The best American showing of the day came in the women's 500-meter speed skating, won by Miss Skoblikova in 45 seconds flat, knocking nine-tenths of a second off the Olympic record set by Helga Haase of East Germany four years ago at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Tie For Fourth

Jeanne Ashworth, a 25-year-old Lake Placid, N.Y., school teacher, and Janice Smith, 18, of Rochester, N.Y., tied for fourth in 46.2, trailing Miss SKoblikova, Irina Yegorova and Tatyana Sidorova. All three Russians broke the Olympic mark.

A third U.S. skater, Marie Lawler of Minneapolis, came in seventh despite an overnight attack of shin splints, a muscle ailment. "Every step in the race hurt," she moaned after clocking 46.6.

The best that an American could do in the back-breaking cross-country ski race was 30th. Mike Elliott, a 21-year-old Fort Lewis College student, covered the 18.6-mile course in 1 hour, 40 minutes, 11.7 seconds — almost 10 minutes slower than Maentyranta, the winner.

Germans Dominate

In the opening of the tobogganing competition — first ever held in the Olympics—on the floodlighted Igls chute, Germans dominated the doings.

America's only woman contestant, Mrs. Dorothy Ann Hirschland of Closer, N. J., was thrown from her sled and skidded 60 yards down the track. She finished last in the opening heat.

Thomas Kohler of West Germany led the men's competition in the first heat and Ortrun Enderlein in the shorter women's race. Francis (Buddy) Feldman of Idaho Falls, Idaho, placed seventh among the men. Both events are decided on total times for four heats, raced on three nights.

Canada took the lead in hockey, beating a strong Swedish team 3-1 for its second victory in the championship round robin. Sweden, runner-up to Russia in last year's world championships, was one of the top favorites. Finland beat Switzerland 4-0 in the only other game in the top group.

Twin City, Buck's Cop YMCA Wins

STROUDSBURG — Twin City jarred J. A. Reinhardt, 108-55, and Buck's East Stroudsburg Hardware bounced Chet's and Lanterman's, 113-71, in Wednesday night's action of the YMCA Industrial League.

Charlie Chronister tossed in 26 points for Twin City to pace his club to victory and King Beers also hit for 26 in leading Buck's.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, January 31, 1964

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You may face some obstacles but you will have many advantages to offset them. Compare notes with those whose interests are similar to your own.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — An excellent day for business and financial matters. To get through the day satisfactorily, however, you will have to curb emotions, tendencies toward bickering.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A day in which it will be imperative to use your very best judgment. If, on second thought, an idea or plan seems unfeasible, drop it immediately. Don't waste time trying to MAKE it workable.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — If you maintain a steady pace, it will be easier to accelerate quickly at opportune moments. Sporadic effort will beget fatigue, strain. Make decisions only after diligent scrutiny of data.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You should have little to obstruct your most progressive moves if you keep affairs in line. Inquire about others' ideas, tactics; you may be able to incorporate some in your own program.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — While it is creditable to be painstaking, you could be overly meticulous, causing delays, misunderstandings. Emphasize the stamina and inspiration for which the Virgoan is noted.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Putting off a "big" problem or undertaking will pile up complications. Bear this in mind and go about the day in Libra's truly practical, mature manner.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Run things over in your mind before beginning day's schedule and weed out all non-essentials. Better influences than you may believe at first, promise fine gains.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Unusual opportunities may be discovered by those who are imaginative and enterprising enough to go to great lengths to find them. Be alert.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Finesse and, possibly, a more original treatment will brighten everyday routine and stimulate your mind in more taxing matters. A good day for accomplishment.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Look to your acumen, your knack for comprehending the total picture, in seeking the right answers. Consider carefully before you accept new propositions.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Especially favored now: construction, engineering, teaching, scholarly work. Commensate reward wherever you can; it boosts morale, makes everyone's way easier. Your insight and perception can lead to new profits.

YOU BORN TODAY are home-loving but too often uncommunicative, making loved ones feel sort out. You do your best in a bright, progressive climate; are endowed with business foresight and artistic appreciation. But you may hesitate too long to take a chance, so lose an opportunity. You like to give quality service; make fine charity and organization workers. Many statesmen, architects, craftsmen in wood and metal and nurses have been Aquarians.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Bomber 'Bonfire' Not Clear To U.S.

GENEVA (AP)—The United States has asked clarification of the new Soviet proposal to destroy strategic bombers.

The U.S. disarmament negotiator, William C. Foster, and the Soviet delegate, Semyon K. Tsarapkin met for over an hour in the American delegation headquarters and subsequently lunched together in a downtown hotel.

An American spokesman said Foster and Tsarapkin, cochairmen of the 17-nation disarmament conference, discussed the future work of the conference.

Other conference sources said the new Soviet proposal to "make a bonfire" of strategic bomber fleets was among the subjects discussed.

Tsarapkin made the proposal to the conference Tuesday, leaving Western officials somewhat puzzled over what he really meant.

There was a notable difference between his formal statement in the conference room and his subsequent explanation to a news conference.

In his formal proposal he said strategic bombers although obsolete can still constitute a threat and should be destroyed. At his news conference he said he meant all bombing planes of all nations.

The United States promptly branded the total destruction of all bombers as impracticable and unacceptable, but expressed interest in a one-by-one demolition of absolete planes.

That was first suggested by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk during the signing ceremonies for the nuclear test ban treaty in Moscow last August.

Western officials said the destruction of strategic bomber planes as they go out of service would prevent them falling into the hands of other nations which might use them for aggressive purposes.

Any demand for the blanket destruction of all bombers, the officials said, would be a pure propaganda move.

There was no conference session Wednesday. Talks resume Thursday morning before continuing at a reduced pace next week with only two meetings per week.

The Portland and vicinity Ambulance Corps board of directors met recently in the ambulance building on State St. Officers elected were president, Wallace Stine; vice president, Hiram Delp; secretary, Madalyn Ott; treasurer, Olin Cramer; solicitor, William F. Brodt. Louis Wheeler of the Active Corps, reported 191 calls for the year and 6,130 miles traveled and 807 man hours expended.

Monroe's Tax Seen $24 Million

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce has come up with some estimates of the tax burden on individual counties in the Keystone State as a prorated share of the $97.9 billion proposed federal budget.

Monroe County's share would amount to $24,200,000; Pike, $6,200,000, and Wayne $13,000,000.

The total for the entire state would amount to $6,206,800,000, according to State Chamber of Commerce estimates.

NOTICE OF AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

Notice is hereby given that Edinger-Wyckoff, Inc., a Pennsylvania Corporation, with registered office located at Stroudsburg, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, R. F. D. #1, intends to file Articles of Amendment with the Department of State of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on Wednesday, February 5, 1964.

Said Articles of Amendment are filed under the provisions of the Business Corporation Act of May 5, 1933, P. L. 364, its amendments and supplements.

The nature and character of the proposed Amendment is as follows: To provide that the capital stock of the Corporation shall be 200,000 shares of common stock without nominal or par value instead of 500 shares of common stock of the par value of $100.00 per share and 1,000 shares of preferred stock of the par value of $100.00 per share.

Stroudsburg, Pa.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to Section 8 of the Act of June 25, 1947, P. L. 1145, as amended that the Council of the Borough of East Stroudsburg, Pa., intends to adopt an Ordinance levying a $5.00 per capita tax for Borough purposes at a meeting to be held on the third day of March, 1964.

The imposition of the said tax is necessitated by reason of the increased operating and capital expenditures costs of the Borough.

It is estimated that $12,000.00 will be derived from said tax.

By Order of the Council of the Borough of East Stroudsburg.

STERLING CRAMER,
Borough Manager

BUDGET NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the proposed budgets of the Borough of East Stroudsburg for the year 1964 are available for public inspection at the Office of the Borough Manager, located in the Municipal Building, 56 South Courtland Street, East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays for a period of ten (10) days beginning Monday, February 3, 1964.

Authority Steps Up Relocation Plans

By Jim Oltaway
Daily Record Editor

EAST STROUDSBURG—Although families in the two East Stroudsburg redevelopment projects will not be asked to move "until next summer at the very earliest," the Redevelopment Authority of Monroe County is already working to make their relocation as easy as possible.

Alton (Bucky) Jones, newly-appointed property and relocation manager, is now acquiring a list of properties for sale or rent. A file will be available for use by families which must move.

In an interview at the redevelopment authority office at 125 Crystal St., East Stroudsburg, Jones and King Beers, executive director of the authority, outlined procedures they will follow to find new housing.

Housing Leads Invited

Individuals with houses or apartments to rent or sell were invited to see or call the redevelopment authority and give them details of the property.

Jones will then inspect houses or apartments on the list to make certain that they meet federal standards for relocated persons.

There are 107 households in the Lincoln Ave. redevelopment project, including five Negro families, and 20 households in the S. Courtland St. project, including one Negro family, according to Beers. He said all the Negro families in both areas are in "fairly high income brackets."

The authority will pay 100 per cent "of actual moving expenses" which it will verify.

When relocated families move to new housing, they must inform the redevelopment authority. Jones will then inspect the new accommodations to be sure they are "safe, standard and sound," according to federal relocation regulations.

Federal Standards

The authority must conform to federal law which requires that families move out of redevelopment areas into housing which is not substandard.

In the borough of East Stroudsburg, housing which relocated families move into must meet the standards set forth in the fire, electric, building, plumbing, health and housing codes which the borough has to adopt to qualify for the federal redevelopment program.

The federal government requires a complete listing of where each family in a redevelopment area moved and what type of housing it moved into.

"We are trying to improve the environment in which these people are living," Jones said.

Low-Price Housing

The authority is also trying to secure low-price housing and favorable mortgage loans for relocated families.

"We are working with the Monroe County Master Builders Assn., who have said they can and will construct low priced new homes in East Stroudsburg for families displaced by redevelopment," Beers said.

What does low-priced mean?

Louis J. Manzie, Stroudsburg contractor who recently retired as president of the builders association, said member contractors were working on an individual basis and not on a joint association plan for relocated families.

He said he is developing about 40 lots on East Broad St., in East Stroudsburg with relocating families in mind. He said the homes would cost "around $15,000."

Favorable Loans

Beers said the redevelopment authority has approached all banking institutions in the area to get the lowest interest rates possible for mortgages on new houses of relocated families.

"We hope we can get local mortgages," Beers said.

But he explained that relocated families are eligible for special Federal Housing Administration mortgages at five and three quarters per cent interest rates for us to 35 years.

Beers said a formal statement would be given to each resident in the redevelopment area, explaining how the authority can help secure new housing.

He said families would be moved from the S. Courtland St. project first, but "not until next summer at the very earliest."

Barrett 'Y' To Operate On Trial Basis

MOUNTAINHOME — The Barrett Branch YMCA will continue operation for the coming year on a trial basis. The action was taken at a recent special meeting of the board with William Helbig, president, in charge of the business session.

Pierce Harley, secretary of the Monroe County YMCA board and Horace Walters, Monroe County YMCA board member, attended the meeting with seven of the local board.

The members discussed the future of the local branch and decided to continue for another year on a part time basis. At the end of the year, an evaluation study will be conducted to discover the impact of the unit on the life of the community as a whole and the young people in the community.

It was announced that if the evaluation discovers no need for the YMCA branch in the township, the unit will be closed.

Applicants are being interviewed for the position of Barrett Branch YMCA director, to take the office vacated by the resignation of Robert Wilson, who will leave in mid-February.

Canadensis Moravians Join Move

CANADENSIS — "Strength for the Sixties", a program to increase the impact of the Moravian Church in America is being conducted by the Canadensis Moravian Church in association with the Northern Province of the Moravian Church.

The objective of the program includes provisions for extension into new unchurched areas; assistance and encouragement to foreign mission churches in their building programs; a portion of the new library for the Moravian College and Theological Seminary, Bethlehem; and program expenses.

The program goal totals $1,135,000, which will be raised through subscriptions and pledges among the members of local churches in the province. The sum is to be raised over a period of three years.

The Moravian Church, founded in 1457, is the oldest Protestant Church, pre-dating Luther. A small denomination, the Moravians concentrated on the mission field, sending missionaries out before congregations were established in England or the United States.

Last year, a request was framed by the provicial Elders Board that local congregations set aside any building or expansion programs to clear the way for the "Strength of the Sixties" program. It will be conducted in two campaigns which will be spearated by a term of years.

In the announcement of the program, it was said, "There is a place and a need for the assistance of every pastor, every church officer, every member and every friend."

Assistance for the Moravian College and Theological Seminary is necessary in the light of the fact that many congregations do not have full-time pastors and the number of theological graduates is less than the number of empty pulpits.

Extension and aid to the program of the church is considered a challenge by each congregation.

Cancer Unit Heads To Map Drive Plans

STROUDSBURG — American Cancer Society leaders from 15 northeastern Pennsylvania counties will meet at Gennetti's Hotel in Wilkes-Barre Saturday.

Attending from Monroe County will be Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, cancer crusad e chairman; John T. Lambert Jr., co-chairman, and Mrs. William L. Hoffman, executive director.

Slated For April

The society is meeting to map plans for its yearly fund drive, to be held this April.

Part of a nationwide "Tell Your Neighbor" campaigning in 1964 will be a folder with answers to the most commonly asked questions about cancer, and special neighborhood meetings of crusaders to learn the best ways of giving these answers.

Among volunteers on the all-day program Saturday will be Victor G. Diehm, of Hazleton, area crusade chairman for the northeast portion of the state; Dr. William L. Dyson of Hazleton, a member of the Pennsylvania division board, and Ray Calabrese of Bloomsburg, also a division board member.

Barrett Carnival Aug. 3-8

MOUNTAINHOME — The Barrett Carnival Association established the date of the annual Barrett Towaship Carnival at a meeting this week at Mountain Cleaners. From Aug. 3, through Aug. 8 inclusive, the five organizations will operate the carnival at the grounds next to Vogt's Tavern, Mountainhome.

Officers and committees were appointed. George Crawford was elected president; Bob Temko, vice president; Mrs. Dale Price, secretary, and George Camfield, treasurer.

The Barrett Junior Women's Club will be in charge of food and refreshments; Charles Vogt, Jr., tents and grounds; Bill Wagner, rides and games; Barrett Community Club, publicity and ads; Barbara Carlton, secretary and traffic control; Mrs. Ben Varvel, work assignment; Mrs. Lydia Christenson, insurance and legal matters and Bob Tomko, tickets.

All meetings will be held the third Monday of each month at Mountain Cleaners, 8 p.m. with the next meeting set for Feb. 17. Representatives of the Barrett Community Club, Barrett Junior Women's Club, Barrett Lions Club, Evans Blitz American Legion Post 922 and Ladies Auxiliary, are the sponsors.

Siamese Twins Born Upstate

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Siamese twins were born at nearby St. Clair Memorial Hospital Wednesday but died within the hour, a hospital spokesman said.

Cy Barrett Says

Insurance Quandry

DEAR CY:

On a recent business trip, when I approached my parked car after stopping to buy cigarettes, I noticed a woman looking in the windows. I inquired, "What goes on here?" She answered, "I got no job and want to work in your state. Please help me get work in a private home there. I am 58, healthy, and love children and work." It turns out she has no relatives or insurance. Would my friend, who is interested in hiring the woman, be required to carry hospitalization on her? What about liability if she fell and fractured a leg at his house?

TIEDEMANN

DEAR TIEDEMANN:

Employers of domestic help are under no obligation to carry hospitalization or health insurance on their help. This angel of a vanishing era must buy it herself! Should she become ill, insurance could help defray medical and hospital expenses. If illness is prolonged, the state will have to take over.

For protection against injuries sustained on his property, your friend should turn to insurance. Take a homeowner's insurance policy, for instance. It has two sections. One protects for physical damage to the homeowner's own property. The other includes liability for injuries sustained by others on the property. The best course is to have your friend review his coverage with his local insurance representative. (Full-time employees should be declared to insurance companies).

I believe in gambling on deserving people. But . . . this gal's references should be checked with the perseverance of an FBI man loose on his first case.

DEAR CY:

When an employee is hired, his employer expects and demands honest and aboveboard treatment. Why can't the company be fair and tell the truth about why a person is fired? If the real reason was known, men and women could better themselves in the next job. The woman who replaced me was supposed to be very efficient, but beauty was all she had to offer.

GINNY

DEAR GINNY:

Firing jars the emotions of even the most hard shelled personnel men. Phony reasons for severing relationships are given ex-employees to avoid unpleasantness and a bitter after taste which might be expectorated in public. Thousands and thousands and thousands are fired each year without ever knowing what they did wrong. (Many are recommended to new employers.) They may suspect their shortcomings but until informed point blank, human nature protects them from believing the worst. So boozers, chronic money borrowers, slopy Joes and Josephines jump from job to job. Only one out of ten will ever be called upon to confront the real reason they were fired. But who wants to see the truth naked, anyway?

CY

DEAR CY:

Scheming does me no good in landing a part-time job. I retired in August and can't think up a single constructive way to earn money. My landlord sees me sitting around and says, "Talk to your friends. See what they can come up with." I hate to ask for charity and don't want to alienate my friends. What should I do?

DAMROSCH

DEAR DAMROSCH:

Buy your landlord's advice. The privilege of asking friends for help is an earned franchise. The man who is terrorized at the prospect of converting friends to enemies can bank on few true friends. One of my all time favorites is a 69 year old dynamo who was merged out of a position he fought all his business life to reach. On Thursday following his black Tuesday, he called on friends and sought their counsel. For the past five years, he has been busily engaged in a job one fingered for him.

E-L Claims Automatic Stops Costly

WASHINGTON — Automatic train stop systems required under a forty-year old order of the Interstate Commerce Commission are both costly and unnecessary, the Erie Lackawanna Railroad said in a petition filed yesterday seeking authority to discontinue their use on two divisions equipped with such devices.

The railroad contends that compliance with the order under today's operating conditions prevents maximum utilization of motive power, incurs needless delays to trains, impairs efficiency and adds costs in excess of $178,00 annually which could be saved without affecting safety.

The Erie Lackawanna said its problem is particularly acute because locomotives and signal systems of the former Erie and the former Lackawanna were equipped with different type control devices.

Former Erie engines which operated in the 244-mile territory between Hornell and Port Jervis were equipped with automatic intermittent train stop, while former Lackawanna engines which operated in the 57-mile territory between Binghamton and Scranton used an automatic cab-signal system.

FORE THE LADIES

MIAMI BEAC, Fla. (AP) — The City Council bowed to ladies' demands and voted to permit them to keep their special tee time at city-owned golf courses.

Vice Mayor Bernard Frank said women had had the special times for 13 years, "we can't take it away now."
